Airplane Crash Kills One, Pilot Hurt Critically

Flier From Ridgeway In Hospital at Kenton; Denver France Dead

KENTON—A 37-year-old Ridgeway man was killed and another Ridgeway man critically injured when a single engine private plane crashed in a corn field, three miles east of Bellefontaine on State Route 47, at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Denver France, 37, of Ridgeway, a passenger in the plane, was killed in the crash and Alan Cramer, 28, of Ridgeway, pilot and owner of the plane, is in "critical" condition at San Antonio Hospital, Kenton. Cramer suffered compound fractures of both legs, fractured left arm and ribs, undetermined head injuries with a possible skull fracture and possible internal injuries.

Crash In Logan County

Logan County Sheriff Fred Foerster investigated the accident which took place on the Joseph Stanley farm.

Stanley said Cramer, a friend of his, would often buzz the area, cut off the motor of the plane and glide over the farm, on his way home to Ridgeway. He said Cramer apparently got too low. The plane snapped off an electric high tension wire with the wheels, which sent the nose of the aircraft down to the ground. The plane overturned and was demolished.

Area farmers pulled both Cramer and France from the wreckage. France regained consciousness, stood up, commented, "I'm going home," and dropped over dead.

An ambulance from the Ballinger Funeral Home at West Mansfield removed Cramer to the Kenton hospital while France's body was taken to the Kennedy Funeral Home at Bellefontaine.

Survivors Listed

France's survivors include: seven sisters, Mrs. Andrew Rumer of Bellefontaine, Mrs. Gladys Edmiston of Lima, Miss Ethel France of Dayton, Mrs. Eileen Baldwin of Ridgeway, Mrs. Mildred Hoge of Bellefontaine, Mrs. Mildred Martin of Mount Victory and Mrs. Lelia Canter of Corning; and two brothers, Ralph of Ridgeway and Chester of Dayton.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mercury Soars To 91, Some Relief in Sight

Another day of 91-degree temperatures was recorded in Marion yesterday.

The mercury was predicted to go higher but slightly overcast skies kept it from reaching the mid 90s as was expected.

The season's most extensive and most severe heat wave pushed eastward to the Atlantic coast while a cool front from the northern Rockies began moving into the Midwest.

But no relief was in sight for south-central sections of the country, where seven consecutive days of plus 100-degree heat have taken a toll of crop and poultry losses.

Heat deaths mounted to at least 17 across the country and more records toppled yesterday as the swelter belt stretched from southern Texas and South Dakota eastward.

Oklahoma counted 5 heat victims: Colorado, 4; Illinois, 2; Missouri, 2; Iowa, 1; Nebraska, 1; Louisiana, 1; and Pennsylvania, 1. The heat wave was centered in southeastern Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma.

The day's highest official reading was 114, reached at Ponca City, Okla., and Emporia and Chanute, Kan.

Temperatures of between 95 and 102 were forecast again today for Ohio along with partly cloudy weather. By noon today in Marion, the mercury had climbed to 92.

According to the forecast there is a chance of scattered thundershowers in the north this afternoon with considerable cloudiness and a few scattered thundershowers tonight and probably over the south Thursday, accompanied by cooler temperatures Thursday.

Low reading for last night at the local weather station was 67. A year ago, the high was 93 and the low 55.

Suitcases of Rep. Betts, Aide Stolen From Auto

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thieves broke into an automobile in the House Office building parking lot yesterday and stole the suitcases of Rep. Betts (R-Ohio) and his assistant, Marvin Monroe of Findlay, Ohio.

The two had returned from Ohio. Betts told a reporter today, and had locked the two suitcases in the car, which belongs to Monroe.

Project Begun To End City's Sewer Puzzle

Columbia Street Job Designed as Solution To Unsanitary Method

Steps to reduce or eliminate an unsanitary condition created in Marion's southwest section by the Columbia St. open ditch storm water sewer were started today.

Mayor Harold F. Robinson and Safety - Service Director Ralph Forrest said they hoped to have city service department crews at work on a project to correct the condition today.

First step in correcting the condition, according to Mayor Robinson, will be for the city crews to clean sludge and sediment from an interceptor type of catch basin located near its Columbia St. storm water sewer outlet.

This catch basin was installed for the purpose of shuttling sew-

T-Shirt Found In Lake Near Doctor's Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — A white T-shirt, similar to the one Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was believed to have worn the night his wife was murdered was washed ashore today on a Lake Erie beach just west of their home.

The physician's shirt is regarded as a key piece of evidence in the case.

Police Chief John Eaton of suburban Bay Village sent a cameraman to photograph the shirt before it was picked up by investigators. It was found by Patrolman Cy Lipaj, one of four men assigned to hunt the shirt and a murder weapon.

Dr. Sheppard, an osteopath, told investigators he did not know what happened to the shirt and that possibly it had been taken from him by the killer.

His wife, Marilyn, 31, was beaten to death early July 4. Her body with 25 deep gashes in the head, was found in an upstairs bedroom.

Dr. Sheppard, 30, said a call for help awakened him but that he was knocked out twice in fights with intruders.

No person has been arrested and police are still hunting for the weapon, which Coroner Samuel Gerber believes was a metal rod about 18 inches long.

Speedy Tax, Farm Action Sought by Ike

Congress Is Chided at Press Session; Killing Of Health Plan Scored

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower nudged Congress today for quick passage of his tax and farm programs.

He said the tax program would help the economy expand and create more jobs and his farm proposals would benefit the entire country and thus prove to be the best kind of politics.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that the House members who killed his health reinsurance program simply don't understand the facts of life.

Says People Lost

The American people lost, he said, when the House rejected the program, 238-134.

And, Eisenhower said, he will carry on the fight for such a program as long as he is in office.

In the field of foreign affairs, Eisenhower said he expected to announce something shortly, perhaps during the day, on the American-British-French talks in Paris on the Indochina question.

In Paris, a communique from the foreign ministers of the three nations announced that Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith will go to Geneva soon to represent the United States at the conference there on the Indochina situation.

Eisenhower said Dulles went to Paris early this week to see, among other things, if U.S. representation at the Geneva talks would be helpful rather than damaging in reaching an Indochina settlement.

Reflects 'Concern'

He said Dulles' visit reflects a great concern on the part of this country to keep a united front on fundamental principles with its chief allies, Britain and France.

The President also made a formal announcement that South Korean President Syngman Rhee's July 26 visit to the United States will be for the purpose of making further plans for "the attainment of a unified, free and independent Korea."

It was announced in Seoul earlier in the day that Rhee would visit Washington. Eisenhower's statement said he invited the South Korean president some time ago to make a state visit.

On other matters Eisenhower said:

1. He is not going to let his

Ohio Project Involved

Senators on Trail Of FHA 'Windfalls'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate FHA investigators were told today a former Home Loan Bank governor, James F. Twohy, netted more than $45,000 after investing $60 in construction of a Columbus, Ohio, apartment project.

Don A. Loftus, former Wilmington, Del., builder, testified about the Twohy transaction as the Senate Banking Committee dug further into alleged windfall profits in government - backed housing programs.

Beverly Manor Project

Loftus said Twohy was one of the original investors in the Beverly Manor apartments in Columbus. Loftus himself was a principal stockholder in the development.

He said Twohy, as another investor, bought 12 shares of stock at $5 a share. In the distribution of the difference between the amount of the FHA mortgage and the cost of construction Twohy got $45,759.27, he added.

Asked why Twohy should get this, Loftus said he had used his "initiative to do all possible to bring about savings."

Twohy later sold his stock for $5 a share, he said, and now lives in retirement in Santa Monica, Calif.

Reaped Profit in '52

Records showed Twohy left the the Ohio project in 1950 and reaped his profit in a distribution to government in 1947. He invested in stockholders, Dec. 15, 1952.

The home Loan Bank, which Twohy once headed, had nothing to do with the programs which led to the committee's investigation.

Loftus formerly was connected with Investors Diversified Services, a Minneapolis concern which made apartment loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Loftus was one of several witnesses summoned by the committee in its investigation of alleged irregularities in housing loan insurance operations.

Others included Ralph J. Solow, who has been before the committee in secret session; Alfred Gross of New York, who shared in a reported four-million-dollar windfall profit on Glen Oaks Village, Inc., on Long Island, N.Y.; and Andrew Nichols, assistant to the county prosecutor of Bergen County, N.J.

'Take' Set at Half-Billion

There have been no allegations that windfall profits, as such, are illegal, but the Banking Committee has been searching for evidence of corruption or collusion between builders and FHA officials in arranging for government insurance of loans inflated well beyond actual project costs.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), Banking Committee chairman, estimates that windfall profits out of a post-war apartment building program total half a billion dollars.

Capehart, meanwhile, said he was undisturbed by a turn of events yesterday which appeared to have torpedoed any chance for

French Stage Big Display of Force in Hanoi

10,000 Troops March, Assure Vietnamese Of Intention To Fight

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—A crowd of 20,000 Vietnamese watched some 10,000 French and Vietnamese troops and hundreds of tanks and guns parade the streets of Vietminh-threatened Hanoi today.

Officially, the military display honored France's national holiday, Bastille Day, but obviously it also was designed to show the city of 600,000 that the French still are here in strength.

Reassuring Move

It was calculated to reassure pro-French Vietnamese who fear Hanoi will be given to the Communist-led rebels in the negotiations in Geneva or lost to them in a mass Red assault on the shrunken French holding in the Red River delta.

The parade also served to warn Vietminh sympathizers and extreme nationalists that the French have men and guns ready to put down any revolt that might flare if a cease-fire is signed.

For an hour and a half the pavement in front of the reviewing stand shook under marching feet and rumbling machines of war, the latter an impressive display of American war aid.

Reds Increase Pressure

The Vietminh meanwhile increased pressure on the northern and northwestern sides of the French defense perimeter of the Red River Delta.

Between Luc Nam and Phu Lang Thuong, about 28 miles north of Hanoi, the French-held post of camp Erulin was completely encircled. Arms, ammunition and food were parachuted yesterday to

Dulles Plans To Fly Home; Bedell Smith Will Go to Geneva

PARIS (AP)—Walter Bedell Smith, U.S. undersecretary of state, will go to Geneva soon to represent the United States at the Geneva conference, a communique issued by foreign ministers announced today.

Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Premier Pierre Mendes-France issued the communique after two days of meetings. They said Smith's presence at Geneva would satisfy British and French demands for a high level American representative at Geneva without departing from Dulles' principles against his own presence there.

Dulles probably will return to Washington, Eden and Mendes-France will fly to Geneva to continue negotiations with the Communist powers for an Indochina ceasefire.

Outlines Stand

During the talks which started here yesterday evening, the three statesmen were believed to have outlined concessions which might be made to bring a halt in the fighting in Indochina. The ministers met alone again this morning, while a technical committee was putting this outline down on paper.

There was no hint as to the peace terms discussed.

Dulles is known to feel that France has the primary responsibility for settling the war, since she has carried the principal burden for almost eight years. As one source, put it, the United States has furnished money, but money is no substitute for blood and lives and the United States should not try to dictate a peace settlement on the basis of its financial contribution.

Optimism Reviewed

Dulles came to Paris after Eden and Mendes-France urgently requested his presence at the Geneva talks. Alhough apparently firm in his resolution not to go on to Geneva, the moral support his visit here gave the British and French ministers seems to have been enough to spark optimism about a final settlement.

Even after this morning's meeting, however, Dulles' final attitude on America's role in the talks was still left open for modification in the future.

The three ministers began today's sessions just before noon meeting at the French Foreign Office.

Before the Big Three conference, Dulles and Eden passed up the French capital's big Bastille Day parade down the Champs Elysees to confer together for an hour.

Pretty Well Agreed

Earlier yesterday an authoritative British informant in London told newsmen the United States and Britain had "pretty well agreed" to accept a partition of Viet Nam on a line somewhere between the 16th and 18th parallels. But the informant added, "it may be that France will feel obliged to accept an agreement that we and the United States would regard as dishonorable."

Governors Parley Sidelights

Lausche Shares Political Limelight at Conference

By JACK BELL

BOLTON LANDING, N.Y. (AP)—Three Democrats and half a dozen Republicans claimed the political spotlight today as the nation's governors prepared to wind up their 46th annual conference with a call for a conference with President Eisenhower on a vast new road-building program.

Although politics officially is taboo here, Governors Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Frank J. Lausche of Ohio appeared to be advancing to the forefront in a Democratic parade of potential 1956 presidential candidates.

Republican governors, who often furnish that party's nominee, hid themselves under a blanket assumption that President Eisenhower is going to be a candidate again.

But some of them lifted the corners of the coverlet to make it known privately that they would not be adverse to being considered favorably if the President should decide not to run again.

In the vanguard of these was GOP Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, who turned away direct questions about his future aspirations but obviously wasn't very put out at those who asked.

The biggest unsettled political question of the conference, however, concerned a man who twice has been the Republican presidential nominee and whose friends think he would like to have a third shot at the grand prize—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dewey has been an affable host to this conference—and nothing more. He said flatly he won't talk about the possibility that he might

Grantland Rice, 73, Dean Of Sports Writers, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — "Outlined against the blue-gray October sky, the Four Horsemen rode again."

Perhaps there will be better leads written on sports stories, but there probably will never be a more widely known one. It was written almost three decades ago in describing the Army - Notre Dame football game of 1924 by Grantland Rice, the dean of American sports writers, who died of a stroke last night at 73.

Notre Dame went on to win the game on that murky day and the famous backfield of Elmer Layden, Harry Stuldreher, Jim Crowley and Don Miller became a legend.

Rice was a perfectionist of his profession and many is the youngster who tried to pattern himself after this veteran of more than a half-century in sports.

Indochina Defeat Could Mean Disaster for Big 3

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France are now face to face with a serious defeat at the hands of Communist forces in Indochina. Their real problem is to prevent the defeat from being turned into a major disaster.

The difficulty they face in this task—a task at the heart of Secretary of State Dulles' flying mission to Europe — is that they have no guaranteed weapons for successfully fighting off Red political infiltration and subversion behind dividing lines drawn in any Indochinese agreement which may be reached. Dispatches from Paris said Dulles was reported to have "pretty well agreed" to some such division.

Unless some way can quickly be found to produce a previously unknown degree of strength in the area and build up a solid political base for new defensive positions, the developing Communist triumph in northern Viet Nam will almost certainly prove to be but the first of a series of Red steps to conquer a far larger area.

One of the obvious difficulties is that Southeast Asia is so far beyond the power centers of the free world—the United States, Britain and Western Europe. As far as anticommunism is concerned, the region provides little native basis for strength. In this respect it contrasts sharply with Korea and with Guatemala, whose new anti-Communist government was extended U.S. recognition yesterday.

When the United States negotiated an armistice in Korea a year ago, the White House, State Department and Pentagon were all convinced that the line established between Communist North Korea and free South Korea would hold because of South Korea's fierce

It appeared after the committee made the secret testimony available to newsmen that neither witness had testified under oath. The transcript had been sent to the Justice Department Monday for possible action.

But Committee Counsel William Simon said if the two witnesses had not been put under oath there was no chance for perjury prosecution.

Sarner said from home last night that he was not sworn. Solow said he did not think he had been put under oath.

In fact, his first job with the Nashville News in 1901 combined covering sports with the state capital, county court house and customs office—at $5 a week.

In addition to the Nashville News, Rice worked on Forester Magazine, the Atlanta Journal, the Cleveland News, the Nashville Tennesseean, the New York Evening Mail, the New York Herald Tribune and the Bell Syndicate which distributed his column.

He is survived by his widow, Katherine, whom he married in 1906, and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Butler of Venice, Calif. Professionally she is Florence Rice of the movies and stage.

run for a fourth term as governor of New York in November.

Position Uncertain

Among those who know him best, Dewey was pictured as not finally decided. His friends said he doesn't want to run and would like to retire to private law practice, believing that the presidential lightning is as likely to strike him there as in elective office.

On the other hand, there are those close to him who believe that in the end his name will be found on the state ticket in November. He might be opposed by Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. or Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York, credited here with being among the most likely Democratic nominees.

The outnumbered Democrats among the governors have been getting the most political attention at this conference—which publicly has concerned itself primarily with a long-range and somewhat confusing debate with Eisenhower over whether the states or federal government are to build a proposed new transcontinental system of highways.

Meyner Newcomer

Meyner, who represents a fresh approach among Northern Democrats who might be considered for the party's 1956 presidential nomination, is a new star peeping out of the political firmament.

Personable and energetic, he is likely to have New Jersey's delegation behind him in the 1956 Democratic convention. He still sticks to his support of former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois as the best man for that nomination, but the Stevenson backing among Democratic governors is lukewarm at best.

Lausche is the great enigma of the Democratic puzzle. Other Democrats say he never acts like a presidential candidate and seems to have no interest. But he represents a state that has mothered presidents in the past and isn't overlooked in the forecasts.

Followers of Williams don't try to conceal their hopes that the Michigan governor can win a new term in his home state and thus make himself available as a favorite son candidate, for whatever that is worth in the 1956 convention.

Pushing their way from the wings into the Republican limelight are some governors whose long-range prospects seem somewhat better than average to their supporters.

Governors Theodore R. McKeldin Jr. of Maryland, Dan Thornton of Colorado, John Lodge of Connecticut, Goodwin J. Knight of California and Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin are among these.

The conference is expected to approve in its closing sessions today a resolution calling for a post-election conference with Eisenhower in Washington to decide on the management form for the 50-billion dollar highway program he has proposed. Most of the governors want the states to control the expenditures.

proposal for a limited share-the-atom program for peaceful purposes die if he can help it. This is the program he outlined before the United Nations last December. It calls for participation by the Russians as well as this country's allies. The President said he was sure British Prime Minister Churchill agreed with him the plan should not die even if some people—meaning the Russians—will not go along with it. His meaning seemed to be that an atomic pool without the Soviet bloc, is a possibility.

This won't help the basic problem—selling more butter at a reasonable price—the President said, and the only people who will profit will be the middle men who can sell their butter stocks to the government at a cost of a hundred million dollars or something of that kind to the taxpayers.

Council Will Award Contract for Sewer Extension at Upper

UPPER SANDUSKY — A contract for the extension of the Tschanen Hollow sewer from its present terminal near the intersection of Eighth and Spring Sts. to the site of the Westinghouse small motors factory to be erected at the junction of the C and O Railroad and Route 53, will be awarded at the Monday night meeting, August 2, of the Municipal Council.

Bids will be received by clerk, James Snyder, until noon on August 2. Plans for the extension were detailed by Engineer H. A. Stepleton. The new addition will be 36-inch pipe approximately half the distance and 24-inch from that point to the factory site.

The Austin Co. of Cleveland, general contractors for the building of the Westinghouse plant, moved a first load of equipment to the grounds Tuesday.

age discharged from the sewer during dry weather into a sanitary sewer to be treated and discharged through the city sewage treatment plant, Mayor Robinson said. During wet weather there is sufficient storm water to properly dilute the raw sewage and it is discharged into the open ditch.

Filling up of the catch basin with sludge and sediment has prevented it from functioning properly and mere cleaning will help alleviate the condition, Mayor Robinson said.

Next step in the correction project may be to remove a hump in the open ditch which slows down the flow of water and creates a stagnant pool near the outlet, he added.

Each year residents in the area near the outlet complain of the odor from the ditch and on Jan. 1 of this year Mayor Robinson listed correction of the condition as a part of a 10-point program for his two-year term of office. Five of those 10 points dealt with correction of various faults in the city's storm and sanitary sewer system.

One of the faults the mayor hopes to correct is the mixing of storm and sanitary sewage in the storm water sewer system. Correction of this condition would require an engineering survey of both the storm water and sanitary sewer systems. No definite plans have yet been advanced by the mayor for this survey.

He has said he hopes to complete this survey sometime during 1954 or 1955.

Indochina

opposition to communism under President Syngman Rhee's leadership.

Lack Strong Support

Southeast Asia lacks both the Rhee type of strength and the reinforcing effect of closeness to American power, which was the case in Guatemala. The nearest bases of real power are Australia and New Zealand, aside from Britain's relatively small forces in Malaya.

So far two proposals have been put forth for backing up any armistice line which may be drawn in or around Indochina. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden has proposed nonaggression guarantees. Secretary of State Dulles has proposed an alliance of about 10 anti-Communist nations having interests in the security of Southeast Asia. Both types of compacts would be designed to prevent open aggression against a fixed line—in other words, they would be able to deal only with a provable attack by the Communists, a renewal of the war.

But the real fear among informed officials here is that a limited Communist success in Indochina, the terms of which have been the subject of negotiation at Geneva, will have a magnetic effect on countries like Thailand, Burma and Indonesia are militarily weak. The only great power close to them is the Communist power of mainland China. It is an ideal setup, from the Kremlin's viewpoint, for squeeze pressure on the governments of those countries applied partly through diplomatic channels from the outside and partly through Communist party pressures from the inside.

Independents

By George Sokolsky

The United States may be proud of its great mass production industries, but the American people still find their largest employment in marginal industries, in small shops and mills scattered over the country, in stores and warehouses, in small businesses, on farms, and in self-employment.

SOKOLSKY

The capitalist system contains the seeds for its own destruction and the most potent of these is monopoly. The reduction of the automobile industry from more than 100 manufacturers to four major companies does represent an enormous increase in efficiency, but the question must be asked: If only four, why not two or one company? And if we come down to only one company, why not have government ownership?

I know all the answers to these questions but as a capitalist, I am satisfied with none of them.

THE ELIMINATION of active, exciting, competition must lessen the chances of a new agency of production from coming into existence; it can only lead to the cartelization of industry; cartelization inevitably leads to government control; government control can produce government management and socialism.

Great Britain tried these steps in her steel industry and has been forced to go back step by step to private ownership and management.

What is called a mixed system, that is, partial capitalistic and partial socialistic operations, does not work because private enterprise has few defenses against competition with untaxed government enterprises, and the authority of government when it combines its activities in the economic and political fields tends to become totalitarian, ahtough that has not quite proved so in TVA.

From this standpoint, it can be said that if American marginal industries cannot compete with this country out of low-wage, low-tax countries, sometimes by dumping in order to amass dollars, the American industry ought to go out of existence.

ACTUALLY, this has been the general policy during the past decade and the Randall Report, which has recently been rejected by Congress, upholds this point of view. In fact, it has been suggested by extreme free-traders that if, in the interest of restoring European economy, an American industry has to go out of existence, the government should subsidize the American industry not to produce and should remove the out-of-work Americans from their homes to some place where they can find work or put them on the dole. The idea was not taken seriously in this country.

Nevertheless certain American industries are suffering from what amounts to political-economic competition from Europe and Asia. One of the nastiest forms is going on at this moment in the flooding of the American market with Christmas toys and decorations from the atheistic countries behind the Iron Curtain. I shall call attention to this traffic at another time but I do suggest to buyers for department and chain stores that when they face a boycott of such goods by patriotic organizations in October, November and December, it will be of little value to say that they did not know what they were doing when they purchased these wares.

IN THE MATTER of the American-made watch, there is lots of trouble, although a few of the Swiss companies are making some of their product in the United States. At least one Swiss company has become Americanized because "they never had it so good' in the country from which they came.

Maybe these Swiss manufacturers are more efficient than the Americans; maybe they have taken advantage of their lower costs in Switzerland to build brand names in this country to the disadvantage of the American makers.

The fact is that the American watch industry requires tariff protection if it is not to go out of existence. Since 1936, the tariff on watches has been reduced 58.6 per cent and the imports have increased nearly 1000 per cent, according to American watchmakers, who are laying off workers. (I have not checked these figures.)

The importance of this industry is not watches; it is war time industry, useful in the making of fuses and other work requiring precision operations. Off-shore buying at present will not serve in war-time.

Just as Sen. George Malone's Committee of the Senate has been studying the availability of minerals and materials for war time, so some study should be made of the availability of special skills without dependence on ocean-traffic in war time.

A total of 33 counties in Ohio were represented in the contest. Miss Snare's essay will be entered in national Grange competition.

William Hutchman presided for the meeting with nine subordinate granges reporting. Plans were made to hold a "prince and princess" contest at the September meeting at Martel. A boy and girl will be selected to represent the youth of the county at the state grange meeting in October.

Red Tactics Shift

By J. Edgar Hoover

Victor Riesel is on his way to Europe to cover vital labor news breaking in that arena. Today, while he is en route, John Edgar Hoover, Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, is substituting for him as guest columnist.

The Communist party is again shifting tactics. Its aim — to deceive every patriotic American and in particular every American working man, for it is the working man at whom this shift in tactics is specifically aimed.

J. E. Hoover

The shift is this:

From its post-war attitude of truculence, the party is presently striving to represent itself as a "friendly neighbor" working for the best interests of the nation. The American people, the Party indicates, must be made to think that there's nothing to fear in Communism!

THE VERY TITLE, "The American Way to Jobs, Peace, Democracy," betrays the Communist double talk, and the statement is reminiscent of the wartime "Earl Bowder period" of the Communist party (1941-1945) when the Communists did everything possible to "play down" Communism and to "cooperate" with free government. It reveals that the line now is to lull Americans into believing that Communism does not conflict with American traditions and beliefs. Witness this statement from the draft program:

"The Communist party declares that it seeks no conflict with any church or any American's religious belief."

That from a conspiratorial group which has atheistic materialism as its basic tenet!

One must know Communist tactics of the past in order to understand those of the present. The "friendly" period came to an end in 1945, when Earl Browder, exponent of the "We-can-get-along-with-capitalism" theme, was ousted. The party, taking its cue from Soviet Russia, became more truculent. It denounced "cooperation" with capitalism and urged a more militant class struggle.

Now, as more and more Americans become aware of the menace of Communism, the conspirators seek to allay their fears and hoodwink them by again donning the "friendly" mask.

MEN AND WOMEN who are members of American unions must exercise the greatest vigilance of all, for it is toward them that the most concentrated efforts of the Communist conspiracy are being directed. From its earliest days the Communist party has stressed the infiltration of labor.

During the war, the party made many successful inroads into American labor, capturing entire unions, influencing policies, and exercising an influence far out of proportion to its numbers.

The nation owes a debt of gratitude to those vigilant elements in American labor which realized what had occurred. Alerted to the pressure of Communists in their ranks, patriotic union members acted promptly to rid themselves of this evil.

Many of Communism's past gains have now been wiped out though, as in many other areas of American life, inroads still exist. Any defeat of Communist intrigue in the labor movement inflicts serious damage to the party as a whole.

At no time have the Communists relaxed their efforts. Their instructions call for an intensified effort to penetrate the labor movement, especially the so-called "right wing" unions — to gain recruits, to circulate party literature, to influence policy.

A party "colonization" program to plant individuals, not known as Communists, in national defense establishments is presently underway.

THIS REPRESENTS a menace of the greatest magnitude and reveals that the party's chief objective is not to advance the welfare of labor, but to achieve the means for eventual revolution.

The party is striving vigorously to give the widest circulation to its recent statement entitled "The American Way to Jobs, Peace, Democracy." You may receive an unsolicited copy of it. If you'll regard it as a statement of an organization which is anti-American, anti-labor, anti-democratic and anti-religious, you will have seen its true meaning.

Once the false face which cries for "peace," "democracy," and "jobs" is stripped away, you will find a Communist lackey whose first loyalty is to a foreign power, Soviet Russia. Look behind his "double talk" words. You'll find he's not really interested in higher wages, better working conditions, or helping you. He's out to promote Communism.

The American laboring man, through knowledge of this shift in Communist tactics, can do much to defeat Communist objectives. The party's tactics shift and turn. Its ultimate goal remains unchanged. That goal is a Soviet America.

More Fun Ahead

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

If the world of today has you down, folks, just hold on—the world of tomorrow will be better.

A designing young man named Paul Wrablica, whose job is to help create new industrial products better geared to the needs of mankind, says that in 10 years our civilization will be more fun for everybody in the family — mama, papa, and all their little two-legged tax deducts.

HAL BOYLE

First, let us take up Wrablica's vista of joy for Dad a decade hence:

"The average man, because of greater production efficiency, will work only 30 hours a week—and for more pay than he gets now.

"This will give him longer weekends, more leisure to enjoy the hobbies he likes. And their cost will come down. Suppose he likes sailing. Motor boats and sailboats will be molded from a single piece of plastic, as the bodies of some cars are now.

"That long wearisome ride from his job in the city to his home in the suburbs won't take so long. He'll speed there in a fraction of the present time in a jet-propelled monorail train.

"Even the parking problem will be solved to some extent with smaller cars and more automatic multi-level garages."

THE HOUSEWIFE will have it even better, if the view in Wrablica's crystal ball is clear:

"Most homes will be air-conditioned the year around. This means less housework. There will be no danger of falling down stairs. There won't be many stairs. They will be replaced by elevators or inclined planes.

"The need for maids will practically disappear. The kitchen will become less important, because families will eat out more in restaurants that are truly homelike. There will be little formal entertaining in the home.

"Wives complain today about having to push or carry a heavy vacuum cleaner around. That won't be necessary at all. A woman will be able to plug a hose into an ordinary wall outlet and—zip—the dust will be sucked down into a disposal unit in the basement. Wives will have more and more time to spend caring for their children, going into politics or doing community work."

Wrablica is sure household gadgets of all kinds will be simpler, more durable, and less likely to need repairs.

And look what a pleasant life lies ahead for the kids in 1964—if he's right:

"Movies will be piped directly into the home.

"Toys will be designed better for a child's real needs, and they'll be safer. In fact, life in general will be safer because of better design.

"Television will be commonplace in the schools.

"The TV-telephone will be coming into general use."

Personally, I am not so sure about this TV-phone gadget. What businessman wants to look another businessman in the eye when he is quoting prices over the phone? Teen-agers, of course, will enjoy seeing each other in those long phone calls about their home work they make each evening.

BUT WHY PAMPER THEM? It's a mystery to grownups why any teen-ager can stand looking in a mirror, let alone look at another kid in the same age bracket. Most adults, remembering their own youth, are convinced that the kindest thing you can build for teen-agers is a cocoon in which they can hibernate until they're old enough to vote.

Wrablica, who teaches design at Pratt Institute, has another prediction that makes me even more unwary about his drafting board dreams of life in America in 10 years. It's about beds.

"You won't have to worry about electric blankets in the bed of the future," he said. "It'll have thermostatic controls built right into it. It'll have vibrating equipment—so you can lie in your own bed and enjoy a massage before jumping up to go to work."

Jump up and face work when a man can lie in a bed that will automatically keep his neuroses at the right temperature, and give him all the exercise he needs, too? It'll never happen.

Why, put a few beds like that in the nearest poorhouse — and who'd ever take a job, or get up and face life?

U.S., Britain Hold Key

U.N. Action To Admit Red China Unlikely This Year

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — At this moment Red China's chance of getting into the United Nations in 1954 — although there was a recent storm here over the thought of it — looks small.

The United States is flatly against letting them in. The British are opposed to letting them in any time soon. Between them the two countries should have enough friends among the 60 U.N. members to keep Red China out now.

This is not to say the Chinese Communists will not eventually be admitted, whether or not this country likes it.

It would be an amazing spectacle if Red China could get in this year. It would truly be shooting its way in. Three years ago the U.N. voted that Red China was an aggressor in the Korean War.

Phony Claim

The Chinese had pretended the fiction their countrymen who fought in Korea were volunteers. They still are in that war. There is only a truce in Korea, not peace. The U.N. resolution calling them aggressors has not been lifted.

The Chinese Communists would get some obvious advantages out of U.N. membership. It would mean that in the eyes of the world they had generally been recognized as the rightful rulers of China.

Only 17 U.N. members, including the British, recognize them now. They have to do their propagandizing now from faroff Peiping. It would be a picnic for them if they were in the world forum of the U.N.

With representatives in the U.N. they'd have handy access to the representatives of other countries. They could join with the Russians to weaken the ties between the Western countries. This is a two-way street, of course, since the West could try the same thing on them and Russia.

Would Grab Formosa

If the U.N. gave them a seat and threw out Chiang Kai-sheks Nationalists, now representing China in the U.N., the Red Chinese could star demanding possession of Formosa, now occupied by Chiang's government.

Chiang has been supported and supplied by the United States. This country could hardly abandon Chiang and his people to the mercy of the Communists. But if this seems like a problem, it would be only one of hundreds once Red China got into the U.N.

Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, this month served notice he would resign his leadership and lead a fight to take the United States out of the U.N. the day Red China walked in.

This stand was the more remarkable because Knowland is President Eisenhowers 'lieutenant in the Senate. It caused a sensation here and abroad. Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have the duty to make American foreign policy.

Tried to Back Dulles

Knowland explained he was only trying to strengthen Dulles' hand, but in effect he was telling the White House what foreign policy on Red China, at least, should be.

It was the kind of statement with which Knowland could fry a lot of fish: it might chill any American allies who were flirting with the idea of voting for Red China in the U.N.; it might force the British into the open as being with or against this country in opposing Red China; and it might force Eisenhower and Dulles into declaring — and so influencing other countries — unalterable opposition to Red China.

Knowlands statement came on the heels of a visit here by Sir Winston Churchill and Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden with Eisenhower and Dulles. There were rumors that the British wanted to let Red China into the U.N. Knowland may have feared Churchill could influence Eisenhower.

At any rate, this followed: Eisenhower and Dulles declared fixed opposition to U.N. membership for Red China, although they wouldn't go so far as Knowland in saying the United States should get out if the Communists got in.

And, when he returned to England, Churchill said Britain would not want Red China in the U.N. until it had made peace in Korea and then for some while afterwards proved its good intentions. Since peace in Korea seems far off, U.N. membership for Red China on Churchill's terms seems some time away too.

Rosen's Pride Big Factor in American League Win

Strike Out in First Inning Forced Decision To Remain

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND (AP)—A slowly mending finger, a thing called pride and a big booming bat all played a prominent part in the American Leagues return to the winners circle. The finger, pride and bat all belonged to one person, Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians.

The box score of yesterday's 11-9 American League All-Star victory over the Nationals shows it was a bases-loaded single by Nellie Fox in the eighth inning—a real "bleeder"—that drove in the winning runs to end the war of 13 pitchers in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

But it was Rosen who, despite a painful and swollen index finger, blasted two home runs, drove in five runs and spearheaded the annihilation of six of the National League's best pitchers.

"Yes, I went to Casey before the game with the idea that I be taken out of the lineup," admitted Rosen in a clubhouse interview after the game. "I didn't sleep a wink all night worrying whether I'd be a detriment to the team.

"But pride got the better of me. Instead of begging off altogether, I suggested to Stengel that I give it one try because I felt I owed it to the fans who voted me on the team to bat at least once.

"Casey and I discussed three alternatives — play three innings, don't play at all or hit once and quit. Since Casey had no power to make any decision, he took the matter to Commissioner Ford Frick. The Commissioner decided to leave it up to me. I told Casey I'd like to go to bat once and then tell him how I felt.

"Well, I struck out in the first inning and felt terrible. The finger hurt like the dickens—it hurts more when you strike out—but I didn't say anything to Casey. Call it foolish pride but I didn't want to bow out that way. If I had at least flied out. It wouldn't have been so bad. I might have quit then. But not that way. I wanted to bat once more. Well, the next time up I hit a home run. You can't imagine the feeling. And would you believe it, the finger didn't hurt. . .not much, anyway."

The homer, hit off starter Robin Roberts in the third inning, came after the Philadelphia right-hander had walked Chicago's Minnie Minoso and had given up a single to Cleveland's Bobby Avila. Ray Boone of Detroit followed with a home run to give the Americans a 4-0 lead.

The Nationals fought back with five runs against Chicago's Sandy Consuegra and Cleveland's Bob Lemon in the fourth, and added two more runs on a homer by Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski in the fifth, forging ahead 7-5, after the Americans had scored again in the fourth.

Rosen was not through yet, finger and all. After Yogi Berra had singled in the last of the fifth, the 28-year-old converted first baseman walloped a second home run, even longer than the first. This 400-foot drive tied the score at 7-7. Rosen got his third hit in the sixth, a hot single off the third baseman's chest which didn't figure in the run that put the Americans ahead 8-7 in that inning.

Al's walk, however, played a major part in the eighth when the Americans tallied three times to overcome a 9-8 deficit. The Nationals had taken a one-run lead when pinch hitter Gus Bell of Cincinnati hammered a home run off Bob Keegan of Chicago, the sixth of seven pitchers used by Stengel.

Trailing 9-8, the Americans tied the score on Larry Doby's pinch-hit homer off Gene Conley of Milwaukee. Singles by the Yankees' Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra preceded the walk to Rosen. Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, sixth pitcher used by Manager Walter Alston, replaced Conley and fanned Mickey Vernon for the second out but Fox blooped a Texas leaguer in back of second base, just out of the reach of shortstop Alvin Dark, to chase in the winning runs.

SECOND LARGEST CROWD SEES AL ALL-STARS WIN. Second largest crowd in its 21-year history watches the All-Star game as it returns to Cleveland's stadium for the first time since 1935, when the attendance mark was set. This crowd—68,771 fans—watched the American Leaguers win their first game in their last five tries, 11-9. The game was played in 90-degree heat. This is a general view taken from the bleachers. Brooks, Braves Resume Chase, Thomson Back

By The Associated Press

With no complaints from the newly organized players "association," the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Milwaukee Braves will resume the National League pennant chase a day ahead of schedule at Milwaukee tonight.

The day before and the day after the All-Star Game traditionally are off days in the majors, but this is the only opportunity the two clubs will have to make up a postponed game, so it will go on.

The Brooks will have an opportunity to shave half a game off the New York Giants' lead of 5 games, but if they're going to do it, they'll have to beat Jim Wilson, who has yet to lose a game in six decisions. The Brooks will go with Russ Meyer, who shows a 6-2 record for the year.

The big news in the Braves' camp concerned Bobby Thomson, who has yet to play a game because of a fractured right ankle suffered in spring training. Thomson, who was dealt to the Braves by the New York Giants during the winter, hit a two-run, pinch-hit homer in an exhibition game in Toledo Monday night.

He's not ready for full-time service yet, but Manager Charlie Grimm said he will not hesitate to use him as a pinch hitter immediately.

"But I don't know how long it will be before he can run well enough to play regularly," said Grimm.

As it is, the Braves, who thought Thomson would give them the added punch to win the pennant this year, are too far out to make a bid. They're in fourth place, 15 games off the pace.

The Brooks had a little good news of their own. Johnny Podres, the 21-year-old rookie left-hander, who underwent an appendectomy June 23, is back with the club, although not quite ready to pitch.

American Net Stars Open Bid For Davis Cup

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—The United States begins the annual long climb to the Challenge Round of the Davis Cup today when it meets the British West Indies in a first-round American zone match.

That the Americans will win and go on to the semifinal of the American zone is taken for granted. The United States Lawn Tennis Assn. assigned its second-line players to the task of whipping the local team. Last year, the United States, again using its younger players, scored a 5-0 conquest over the BWI.

Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., has been given the first singles test against Geoff Inglefield, while Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., will meet Ralph Legall. The other member of the American team is Al Burrows of Charlottesville, Va.

Tomorrow the doubles match will be held and Burrows might get into action. The final two singles are slated for Friday.

Cuba has drawn a bye in the first round and will play the winner of the British West Indies-United States contest in the semifinal, which must be completed by Aug. 2. Mexico already has advanced to the semifinal while Canada and Chile will complete their first-round match over the weekend.

Cleveland Slugger Shares Honors in Wildest Classic

By JERRY LISKA

CLEVELAND (AP) — Muscular Al Rosen, tiny Nellie Fox and dish-he-balk Dean Stone shared the spotlight in that order after the wildest All-Star baseball game on record.

The unquestioned No. 1 hero was Rosen, Cleveland's first-third baseman, whose celebrated sore finger wrote most of the drama in yesterday's hectic 11-9 American League triumph over the Nationals.

Rosen was mobbed in the American League dressing room by writers and photographers after his two home runs drove across five of the junior circuit's first seven runs in the contest.

"I slept on whether I should play the entire night before," said Rosen. "As a matter of fact, I didn't sleep a wink. I even asked before the game to be taken out after my first time at bat."

Rosen's right index finger is so puffed he can hardly wrap it around a bat. But with nine well-curled digits, big Al matched an All - Star record in RBI's and homers set by Arky Vaughan in the 1941 game and tied in 1948 by Ted Williams.

The plight of the slumping Rosen had prompted All-Star Manager Casey Stngel — at Al's suggestion—to get commissioner Ford Frick's permission to waive the All-Star rule requiring duly elected starters to play a minimum of three innings.

After he struck out with men on second and first in the opening inning, Rosen decided against blowing the whistle on himself.

"I told myself I wanted one more crack," said Rosen. "Then it happened. It turned out to be my day."

Despite the four American League homers—two by Rosen, one by Ray Boone of the Tigers and one by pinch-hitter Larry Doby of the Indians—the game-deciding blow was a blooper single by the White Sox's Fox which pushed across the 10th and 11th American runs in the eighth.

Leo Durocher of the Giants, National coach, aptly summed up the game thusly:

"Balls crashing all over the park and out of the park, and a 98-foot hit ruins us," griped the Lip.

Veterans Top Ohio Women's Tourney

CINCINNATI (AP)—The veterans took complete charge today as the Ohio womens golf tournament moved into its quarterfinal round.

Only one teenager was left in the field of eight. That was stocky 19-year-old Barbara McIntire of Toledo. But she has plenty of tournament experience. She is a former Western junior champion and twice was runnerup for the national junior title.

Today Miss McIntire clashed with Miss Claire Doran of Cleveland, the defending champion and tournament medalist. It was the fourth time those two players had met in tournament competition and Miss McIntire has yet to win a match.

The form sheet had figured Miss Doran and Miss Carol Diringer of Tiffin as the one-two title possibilities and yesterdays play bore it out.

Miss Doran was three under par over the Losantiville course as she eliminated Mrs. Stanley Emerson of Dayton, 6 and 4. Miss Diringer was two under par as she whipped Mrs. Bert Craig of Cincinnati, 6 and 4.

Ohio Linksmen Begin Play For Amateur Championship

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The 48th Ohio amateur golf championship, after two days of qualifying tests, went on a man-to-man basis today as 64 survivors settled down to match play running through Saturday.

Sylvania Country Clubs 6,518 yards of treacherous terrain, with an elusive par of 72, proved too tough for the field of 153 in the qualifier.

Although defending champion Arnold Palmer, 25-year-old Cleveland Coast Guardsman, clipped two strokes off the card yesterday for a two-day total of 144—even par—he was only practicing and was not in the fight for medal honors.

The qualifying lead, for the first time in the event's history, resulted in a three-way split—shared by 21-year-old George Smith, Ohio State varsity star from Dayton; 22-year-old Bob Barton of Columbus, a Yale golfer; and Carl Mengali, 37-year-old public links threat from Columbus.

The trio tied at 148 for the 36 holes, four over par. Next in line, at 149, were Bob Rankin of Zanesville and Dr. John Lorms of Troy, both former Ohio State stars. At 150 were Fred (Rick) Jones, the 20-year-old Ohio State player from Youngstown, and Dick Peterson, another 20-year-old from Toledo who plays for Cornell.

Scores of 161, or 17 over par, were good enough to get into an eight-way sudden-death playoff for the last two qualifying berths, from which Danny Dell, former Xavier star from Cincinnati, and Bill Moore of Toledo emerged with the positions via the birdie route.

The 64 qualifiers had two 18-hole matches on tap today, cutting the field to 16 by nightfall. Two more 18-holers are scheduled tomorrow, but Friday's semi-finals and Saturday's championship clash will be at 36 holes.

The man-to-man field represents 21 cities, Toledo leading the list with 12. Columbus has 11, Cleveland 9 and Youngstown 7, with Mansfield and Zanesville having 3 each; Lima, Akron, Canton and East Liverpool 2 each, and single entrants representing Kent, Parma, Troy, Dayton, Cincinnati, Greenville, Wyoming, Ashland, Springfield, Alliance and Gallipolis.

Palmer puts his title on the line in the first round against Lew Kish, tournament-tested Columbusite, Howard B. Sauders of Gallipolis, 1953 runner-up, faces Francis Cardi of Columbus, the 1952 champion, and Tom Jones Jr., of Youngstown, 1951 victor, faces Henry Lumsden, a home town foe. Ed Preisler of Cleveland, winner in 1946, goes against Moore of Toledo who grabbed one of the sudden death playoff spots.

Indianapolis Wins In Overtime Battle

By The Associated Press

The Indianapolis Indians went into overtime last night for a 5-4 victory over Minneapolis and increased their league-leading margin to 9 games as St. Paul lost to Kansas City, 6-5.

In other games, Louisville swept a doubleheader from last place Charleston, 7-1 and 8-0, and Columbus whipped Toledo 5-2.

Indianapolis scored its first four runs in the sixth as Bob Hazel and Owen Friend each homered with one on off Miller starter Charlie Fowler.

After Bill Klaus' 12th home run of the season had tied the score, 4-4, in the ninth for Minneapolis, Harry Simpson doubled home Mike Nielsen from first in the top half of the 10th to sew up the Indians' victory--their 60th against 31 losses.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Casey Stengel broke his All-Star jinx yesterday when the American League sluggers topped the National 11-9. It marked Stengel's first winning effort in five attempts.

SHORT

But the Yankee mastermind wasn't as jubilant as one would expect. He had just watched three members of his team's No. 1 foe, the Cleveland Indians, power the junior league to the win.

The three big guns for the Tribe, Al Rosen, Bob Avila and Larry Doby, finished the contest with eight runs driven in. Five were accounted by Rosen with a pair of home run blasts into the right-field stands. Both the two homers and five RBI's tied All-Star marks.

AVILA CHIPPED in with three hits in three official at bats. He drove in his second run with a sacrifice fly on his fourth attempt. Larry Doby completed Cleveland's rout of the National League with a pinch-hit home run over the 380-foot mark in right field.

Actually as far as Ohio diamond fans were concerned the game was an outstanding success. In addition to the Indians' performances, Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell of the Cincinnati Redlegs smashed homers. Bell's, like the one hit by Doby, came in a pinch-hitting role. The sixth home run blast was tagged by former Clevelander Ray Boone.

Going into the game, the losers were still rated as 7-5 favorites. Manager Walt Alston had his power, nine runs worth. But he forgot to bring along his pitching talent. With the exception of the first two frames hurled by Robin Roberts, the American Leaguers cuffed the National hurling as though they owned it.

THE CROWD OF 68,000 left the stadium buzzing about the power demonstration. Many who had attended the 1953 game at Cincinnati agreed there was no comparison. In that game National League pitchers put the brakes to the AL sluggers.

On the return train to Marion, the game was played and replayed but every time the game ended with Leo Durocher sending Red Schoendienst in to be nipped at the plate and Nelson Fox lofting a short humpback liner into left center, just out of the reach of Al Dark and Willie Mays.

District Legion Diamond Play Slated Sunday

Members of the Marion Junior American Legion baseball nine are preparing for the sixth district tournament here Saturday.

All Legion players have been asked to report to the practice field at McKinley Park at 6 p.m. the rest of the week for ball practice in preparation for the district tourney.

Tourney action will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday with Newark meeting the Morrow County squad. Then at 1 p.m., Marion will meet Marysville. A game at 4 p.m. will pit the losers of the first two contests.

A double-elimination event, further eliminations will be held Sunday morning and afternoon at Lincoln Park. All games will be nine innings. Winner of the tournament here advances to state competition in Columbus in August.

Two Drivers Top Hilliards Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two drivers almost cornered the victory market with repeated wins last night at Hilliards Raceway.

But it was Dick Buxton, 25, of Mount Vernon who nosed out top driver Bill Current of Wilkington. Buxton had four wins in the 10-card event; Current had three.

The added two races were elimination paces for 2-year-olds. They were no-betting events with $1,000 purses.

Buxton scored in the first elimination heat driving Ripover, in the fourth and seventh with Legal Ace and again in the eighth with Jerrys Queen. All were mile events. The fourth was a pace B classified, the seventh a Class B and the eighth a 25 class pace.

His best long shot was Jerry's Queen which paid $9.00. Legal Ace paid $4.40 in the fourth and $3.40 in the seventh. Bets totaled $45,307.

Two Shutouts Hurled During Softball Action

Smitty's All Stars, Mac's Trading Post and Carl's Auto Parts turned in Commercial League victories last night in softball play at Garfield Park.

Smitty's blanked Marion Merchants 4-0, Mac's shut out Eagles 10-0 and Carl's disposed of Marion Star 16-5.

Kunkle of Smitty's held Marion Merchants to three hits. His mates gave him his winning margin in the first two frames, three runs in the first and one in the second. The winners banged out 10 hits off the slants of Medley. Fritz Walters had three hits and scored two runs for the winners while Eddie Young punched out a pair of safeties. Lou Crowdis, Dillion, Culver and Smitty were other hitters.

England was author of the second shutout, a two-hit job over Eagles. Mac's gave England all the margin he needed with four runs in the first but added two each in the fourth, fifth and sixth frames. McKeever of the losers was tapped for 11 hits, five of which came in the big first inning. Ed Morse led the winners' attack with two singles and a home run while Walters also had three hits and Charlie Rizzo added two.

Two hurlers combined for Carl's win over The Marion Star. They were reached for a run in the first and four in the fourth by the Newsmen but the winners scored two runs in the first, one in the second, three in the third, six in the fourth, two in the fifth and two in the seventh for the winning margin. Belt was the Star hurler. Fred Thomas had three hits for the losing Newsmen. Frank had three hits and Grubbs three, including a home run for the winners.

Wins Notched By Osgood and Vance Entries

It was Osgood over Wilhelm 11-6 and Vance over Hinton 2-0 in Little League baseball play last night at Robert Scott Field.

Osgood took an early lead which it never relinquished in the National League opener to down Wilhelm's.

The winners scored twice in the opening inning and added five runs in the second before Wilhelm scored three in the second. Four runs in the fifth concluded Osgood's scoring while Wilhelm scored its final runs, three, in the sixth.

Dick Merchant went the distance for Osgood, allowing only eight hits, to pick up his first win of the year against no setbacks. He struck out four and walked none. The loser was starter Prince Wendell, now 1-1, who was relieved by Tiny Hill in the second. Rube Waddell came on in the fifth and finished up hurling chores for the losers. In all, the hurlers were rocked for 11 hits. They were credited with seven strikeouts and walked five.

Rocky Evans socked out his eighth and ninth homers of the year for the losers while Bobo Wilson connected for his second. Bailey also had a pair of hits for the Wilhelm squad. Dave Winters with three hits paced the Osgood offensive. Jerry Bechtle had two hits including his first homer of the year and Dick Merchant banged out two hits.

Phil Reid blanked Hinton on five hits for his fourth win against no losses in the nightcap. He fanned five Hinton batters while walking one.

Johnny Prichard was the loser. He went the route, allowing six hits in dropping his second decision of the year against four wins. Prichard struck out six, walked one and hit one.

Vance scored what proved to be the winning run in the first but added an insurance run in the third.

Ken Coffae led the Vance hitting attack with a pair of hits while Dave Howison, Stan Larkin, Gerald Bosh and Pete Wolfinger all added bingles for the winners.

The losers were led by five players — Music, Prichard, Mann, Lewis and Grumblatt — who each had a hit apiece.

OUT OF BOUNDS DRIVE

BERLIN (AP) — When Air Force Sgt. Culler B. Johnston of Memphis, Tenn., played at Wannsee golf course, a fellow golfer teed off from the 10th hole. The drive sent the ball rolling to the forbidden Soviet zone. "You might say," Johnston observed, "that's really hitting it out of bounds."

Jackson Goes Against Valdes In TV Slugfest

NEW YORK (AP) — If Hurricane Tommy Jackson ever is going to rate a title shot at heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano, tonight should tell the story.

The Hurricane, a restless 22-year Negro from New York, boxes Nino Valdes, the Cuban giant, in an important 10-round heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden.

The match will be carried on network (CBS) television at 10 p.m. EDT.

Valdes, a 6 feet 3 and 207 pounds, is ranked No. 2 among Marciano's contenders, right behind Ezzard Charles although he beat Charles last year at Miami. Despite the high ranking, Jackson, the No. 5 boy, is favored.

Marciano is expected to give Charles a rematch in September, provided his eye cuts heal properly. If anything goes wrong with that match, tonight's winner would be ready to step in. A 1955 bout would be another possibility.

The Hurricane stirs up the fans more than any other new heavyweight has done in years. Either you think he is sensational or you think he can't fight a lick. The raves that followed his victories over Rex Layne, Clarence Henry and Dan Bucceroni turned to jeers when he was deflated by "spoiler" Jimmy Slade April 26. He regained some lost ground May 28 by stopping Charley Norkus in the Garden.

His record is 17-2-1 for 20 starts and Valdes' 30-8-2 for 40 pro bouts.

The 29-year-old Cuban has won eight in a row, forcing the veteran Karel Sys to call quits in his last bout at Brussels May 22. He lost ground, however, in his last New York appearance, a lackluster decision over James J. Parker.

Zernial Released

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Slugging outfielder Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia Athletics, who suffered a fractured collarbone in a game against the Boston Red Sox last Sunday, was scheduled for release today from Presbyterian Hospital.

Doctors have indicated he will be lost to the A's for the rest of the season but the slugger said he hopes to join the team the last six weeks of the campaign.

County Sheep Dipping Service Ready

Extension Unit Foresees More Participation This Year

Sheep ticks and lice are in for a rugged time starting next week as the sheep dipping program begins in Marion County.

The Marion County extension service expects more sheep to be dipped this year than last year. In 1953, approximately 7,000 sheep from about 70 farms in the County were dipped.

Sponsored by the County Sheep Improvement Committee, the program is designed to rid sheep of external parasites, which reduce income per ewe.

Sheep lice, actually a wingless fly, causes irritation in sheep and lambs due to its bite while feeding. The irritation causes sheep to bite and rub, reducing fleece quality and rate of gain in lambs.

Shearing removes many of the ticks but is not a method of treatment, the agricultural extension service said. Dipping is the best way to eradicate ticks.

Two kinds of lice infest sheep—sucking lice and biting lice. Both lay eggs on the fleece close to the skin and are similar in color to the skin.

Marion County's dippers use Cooper's Sheep Dipping powder to destroy ticks, keds and lice, extension agent Arthur Smith said.

For most successful tick and lice control, Ohio State University animal science specialist Ralph Grimshaw recommends the following points:

1. Dip, if possible, (otherwise spray) all sheep in the flock after shearing, when shear cuts have healed.

2. Before intoducing outside sheep into a ked-free flock, examine them carefully and destroy any keds that might be found.

3. Regardless of the number of sheep and lambs in a flock that are infected, the entire flock should be dipped. Dip all goats and dogs.

4. The most economical time to dip is two weeks after shearing, for at that time the shorn sheep removes very little dip from the vat in their fleeces.

5. The entire contents of the vat should be replaced with fresh dip when a maximum of 3,000 sheep have been treated or before if the solution becomes foul.

6. Lindane must be used in water with a temperature not to exceed 80 degrees Fahrenheit as the dip can become dangerous to use when heated. Lindane should not be mixed with such material as nicotine, lime sulfur, or arsenical solutions.

7. Lindane, as other dipping powder, is insoluble in water and therefore the powder has a tendency to settle when there is no agitation or when there has been a delay in dipping.

8. Other new dips are being tested for 1955. We recommend that all new dips should be tested by Ohio Division of Animal Industry or Experiment Station before sheepmen and commercial dippers start to use them.

9. Dip sheep flocks every year. Sheep and lambs would need to be kept off tick-infested pasture or building for at least 60 days to prevent chance of getting more lice and ticks.

10. Avoid rough handling of sheep. BHC neither kills bacteria nor inhibits their growth.

11. Let all sheep cool off before dipping.

12. BHC dipped sheep should not be loaded in trucks or railroad cars before 24 hours.

CLYDE HINAMON stands in front of part of his sheep flock. Hinamon, who has dipped for three years, has 125 ewes and 150 lambs on his farm north of Marion just east of State Route 4.

FHA Services Called Help to Area Farmers

MOUNT GILEAD — Farm families in Delaware, Marion and Morrow counties have made good use of Farmers Home Administration credit and services this past year and have stepped up the efficiency of their farming operations, H. V. Anderson, the agency's county supervisor at Mount Gilead, Ohio said today.

Additional funds have been made available, he said, to lend through the next year to farmers to operate, buy, enlarge, or improve farms.

A large proportion of the money loaned in this county during the past 12 months has been to veterans and other young farm families who are establishing better farm setups, he said. Their greatest needs were for adequate credit and some help in developing sound systems of farming and adopting efficient farm management practices. No loans were made to farmers who were able to obtain the financing they needed from other local lenders, Anderson said.

A total of $81,055 was loaned in the county for equipment, livestock, fertilizer, feed, and seed, that farm families needed to make better use of their land and labor resources, he said.

Anderson said farm ownership and housing loans amounted to $11,120, including direct loans from appropriated funds and loans from money advanced by banks or other private lenders and insured by the Farmers Home Administration.

84 Ohio Counties Have Wildlife Food Plantings

COLUMBUS — Some 323 farms in 84 counties have had wildlife food and cover plantings during the past year. The project, known as 56-D, is a co-operative project between the Soil Conservation Districts and the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

A total of 1,764,763 plants, trees and food - bearing shrubs were planted by the Division of Wildlife under the supervision of Roy Hooker, project leader. Plaintings included: multiflora rose, pine, black locust, black walnut and miscellaneous food-bearing shrubs.

Bumper Wheat Crop Seen for Morrow Area

MOUNT GILEAD — Another bumper wheat crop is in prospect for Morrow County farmers and it is expected to bring them more than $1,300,000 providing favorable weather continues, according to Virgil Crist, office manager of the Agricultural and Conservation Stabilization committee.

Approximately 25,000 acres of wheat are to be harvested in the county this year as compared to 26,593 acres a year ago, he said. There are still a few farmers in the county who cut wheat with a binder and shock it in the field but the large majority now use combines.

Farmers report wheat heads are large and well filled this season and the yield is expected to be well above average. It is estimated to average at about 25 or 30 bushels per acre with much of it making the latter. This would indicate a total production in the county of about 700,000 bushels, he said.

The support price for No. 2 wheat this year is $2.27 per bushel according to Crist. The cash price is expected to be abou $1.71 or $1.72 per bushel, Crist said.

New barley has already been taken in by many local elevators.

Elevators in the county are shipping wheat to be stored in warehouses, however farmers must show their marketing card when marketing wheat. This is evidence to the purchaser that wheat is free of any penalty, Crist said. If the farmer employs a trucker to haul the grain to the elevator, the trucker must show the marketing card.

Prospects are also bright for a bumper corn crop as most fields were more than knee high by the Fourth of July and many were waisthigh. Little cut worm damage is reported this year, Crist said. Hay crops have been average and of quality in most areas with hay harvest underway for several weeks.

Expert Warns Of Chinch Bug Threat to Corn

Ohio State Specialist Calls Spraying Lower Part of Stalk Helpful

COLUMBUS — Chinch bugs have started leaving western Ohio wheat fields and adjoining corn fields should be watched daily, T. H. Parks, Ohio State University extension entomologist, warns farmers.

He said the sooner the bugs are discovered, the fewer corn rows that will need treating and the less damage from the insects. He recommended fitting spray booms with drop nozzles to direct the spray against the lower part of corn stalks to spray bugs massed on corn.

Applying two quarts per acre of toxaphene emulsion concentrate carrying six pounds of toxaphene pe rgallon; or 2 2-3 pints per acre of dieldrin emulsion concentrate carrying 1.5 pounds of dieldrin per gallon; or 2 2-3 pints per acre sects. It takes about two days for the bugs to die after spraying, but the residual effect of the spray remains to kill newcomers.

There is no need to spray wheat and no need for concern about crops other than corn adjoining wheat fields, the specialist said. Spraying fence-rows and grassy borders between infested wheat fields and adjoining corn fields will form a barrier zone.

About 25 western, northwestern, and north central Ohio counties will be affected. Chinch bug is not likely to be a pest in the southern half of the state, Parks said.

CHARLESTON, W. VA. (AP) — Jerry Whittington had two firsts at Meadow Brook Golf club here by making a hole-in-one on the No. 5 hole. It was his first ace and the first one ever made on that hole. Jerry used a 6 iron on the 173-yard hole.

Ohio Farm Econogram

Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

Total crop volume in 1954 now expected to be as large as last year's big crop. (Both around three per cent below 1948 records) Weather in June was quite favorable. Total acreage a little above last year even though wheat and cotton acres were cut sharply.

—:—

Total corn production for 1954 indicated to be 3.31 billion bushels compares with 3.18 billion last year. Generally speaking farmers did not comply with corn acreage allotments. Acres in production this year almost same as last.

—:—

Corn yields look better than year ago. On July 1 estimate was 41.3 bushels per acre for 1954. Last year the U. S. average was 39.6 bushels; ten year average was 35.7 bushels. Ohio yield forecast at 55 bushels per acre — same as last year.

—:—

Total wheat prospects declined very slightly during June. Still expect almost a one billion bushel crop. With large carryover total supplies will be largest on record.

—:—

Remember wheat quota vote set for July 23.

—:—

Oats — Largest crop on record indicated, 1.5 billion bushels or 27 per cent above last year and 17 per cent above average. Total supplies however seven per cent below average. Most stocks held in North Central Region.

—:—

Soybean acreage to be harvested for beans about 21 per cent larger than in 1953; 50 per cent above average. Growing season starting out favorably over country.

—:—

Soybean stocks on farms July 1 estimated at 3.6 million bushels (only 1.4 per cent of last year's production.) Lowest July 1 stocks in 12 years of record.

—:—

Pastures in poor condition. On July 1 they were reported 78 per cent of normal. Slightly above conditions same time in last two years. Otherwise it equals lowest July 1 condition since 1946.

—:—

Milk — Production passed seasonal peak in early June and turned downward more rapidly than usual under hot, dry weather. Output in June still second largest on record for that month.

—:—

Creamery butter production on a weekly basis is declining faster than normal in late June and July. Decline from June peak has been 16 per cent this year, 14 per cent last year, and nine per cent average 1948-52.

—:—

Eggs — Three per cent more layers laid four per cent more eggs in June than June last year. Production so far this year (six months) running three per cent above last year.

—:—

Ohio farm wage rates on July 1 were the same as a year ago. Rate per month with house was $146 and hourly rate of 98 cents without board or room.

Wheat, Barley And Sycamore Trees Attacked

Extension Pathologist Warns Against Scab, Powdery Mildew Mold

COLUMBUS — Wheat, barley and sycamore trees are suffering disease attacks, B. F. Jason, extension plant pathologist at Ohio State University, says.

Gray mold on leaves and leaf sheaths of wheat and barley is powdery mildew. Some leaves turn yellow, then brown and die, he said.

"Many farmers will harvest less wheat than they expected because of powdery mildew," the plant disease specialist said. There is no practical control of powdery mildew.

There are controls for another disease — wheat and barley scab — but such controls are too late now. Seed treatment, crop rotation and complete burial of corn salks help control the scab.

Janson warned farmers that scabby wheat or barley will harm hogs, dogs and man. Cattle, sheep and poultry may eat such diseased grain without ill effects. When grain heads are green those infected by scab will have a bleached, straw color.

Wheat leaf rust, another disease, consists of small, round, yellow - orange lesions. Resistant varieties are the chief means of control. Anthracnose is a disease that is killing leaves on sycamore trees. Burning fallen leaves helps control the disease. Early spring spraying with Bordeaux 8-8-100 also aids control.

At West Point, in the days when every room of the United States Military Academy had a fireplace, loose bricks were commonly found in the hearth. The space behind could be used as a hiding place for "boodle"—forbidden food or drink.

Farm Briefs

An oats yield of 1,990 bushels on 22½ acres was reported today by Frank Washburn on his farm west of Marion on U. S. Route 30-S.

The yield over 80 bushels per acre, was raised by Kenneth Coon on the Washburn farm. Moisture test was 11.5 and weight test was 33.5.

Among the famous sires of the Iroquois offerings, are Iroquois Hurtzell FAC K10 and Moore 345A. Cadet Visits Home After Europe Tour

WEST POINT CADET Daniel B. Geran of Marion is currently spending a short leave at home following a month's visit in Europe.

He is shown here meeting Czech actress Helga Schubertova during a visit to the studios of Radio Free Europe in West Germany. Cadet Geran was one of 24 West Point first classmen who spent a month touring American installations in Europe.

He said: "The peak of this trip has been the short tour of RFE, which is doing a highly commendable job and is to be congratulated for the efforts toward the survival of freedom." RFE, supported by annual contributions to the nation-wide Crusade for Freedom, beams 2,500 hours of news and entertainment each week to 70 million Soviet captives in Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria via 22 transmitters.

Cadet Geran, son of Mrs. George T. Geran of 574 E. Center St. and the late Maj. Geran, will report back to West Point the last of this month to train plebes in military subjects prior to the start of their academic year. Geran, 21, will be graduated from West Point next June.

A graduate of Harding in 1951 where he participated in football and track, he received his appointment to West Point through Senator Bricker, entering the academy in 1951.

Weighty Problem At Zoo Unsolved

NEW YORK (AP)—A weighty problem went unresolved today at the Bonz Zoo; How heavy is hippo Peter II?

Keeper Bob Montana set up a hippo-size scale and loaded it down with lures, such as vegetables and leaves.

Then he tugged away furiously, so to speak.

Peter II got his front feet up on the scale, paused, and turned contemptuously away.

His weight, it might be said, is somewhere between 500 and 700 pounds, plus that of the goodies he got for doing nothing.

Marriage in Color

"The Marriage," starring Hume Cronyn and his wife Jessica Tandy, an outgrowth of their long-running play, "The Fourposter," is now a half-hour television series which is regularly telecast in color, of all things.

J. CROSBY

This means it's the first but by no means the last matrimony to appear in four colors, an important milestone of some sort.

Frankly, I'd always thought of matrimony as a black and white affair with suitable graduations of gray. My own wife comes through to me in black and white but now that Cronyn has started this color thing I expect I'll have to look again, for the rose in her cheeks, the red in her eyeballs.

All of which goes to say that color doesn't add or detract much to a domestic comedy. A towheaded boy and they have a very cute one in "The Marriage" — comes out, of course, towheaded and his bluejeans are, of course, blue—but what the hell!

COLOR CAN EVEN BE a distraction for this sort of show. I found myself spending much of the first—and as this is written, only—episode of "The Marriage" fiddling with the dials to improve the tone of the color. Not, I hasten to add, that my color set wasn't working splendidly. It's just that the human impulse — and you'll suffer from it the first few months you get your color set—is to monkey with the controls in an attempt to make the picture even more splendid.

Presently the half hour has slipped away and you become aware that you have been only dimly conscious of what the actors have been trying to convey.

In the case of "The Marriage," this is a shame because it is a wonderfully literate, adult and amusing domestic comedy. The Cronyns have been working at marriage both in their own home and on the stage for quite a spell now, and they impart almost exactly that feeling of camaraderie, raillery and clannishness that a good family has, without the more conspicuous exaggerations and cliches of the other comedies.

FOR ONE THING, neither Ben Marriott nor Liz Marriott is a dope or a clown—and this is breaking new ground indeed. For another, they haven't—for the moment, at least—another couple living next door who spend 90 per cent of their time in their living room. I don't know that any domestic comedy can long endure without a couple next door—how on earth can the wives gossip about their husbands without one—but so far they've managed.

While the husband, Ben Marriott, was rather consistently outwitted by a woman in the first episode, he put up a rather braver battle than most TV husbands and I think he will be a far better representative of that maligned status of husband than most of the rest of them.

In the first episode, Mr. Cronyn got reluctantly embroiled with the Parent - Teachers Assn., at his son's school. My own children are not of an age where I have had any brushes yet with the PTA's but I have an idea that this is just about the way it'll be. Man puts his hand in the air to ask a question and the next thing he knows he's master of ceremonies for the Fifth Grade Father's Caribbean Fiesta.

THE DIALOGUE in which all this is carried out is civilized and adult, but it is not the sort of thing susceptible to quotation. Just as a guess, I'd say, too, that this show is not the sort that will catch on like wildfire. It's of the sort that will gather a quiet but abiding affection from a few families at a time and ought to last a long time if the Cronyns can keep up the pace.

The rest of the Marriott family, incidentally, is played by Malcolm Broderick as the towheaded Pete and Susan Strasburg as his 15-year-old sister. Jack Garfein directs and the writer is Ecest Kinoy.

Attlee Claims Dulles Playing Into Red Hands

LONDON (AP) — Former Prime Minister Clement Attlee accused U. S. Secretary of State Dulles today of 'playing right into the hands of the Communists" by failing to return to the Geneva conference.

Attlee, whose Labor government first recognized the Chinese Communist government in 1950, spoke in a House of Commons foreign affairs debate.

"We must recognize that if we can get a standstill or an armistice in Indochina there remains the very difficult question of Korea," he declared.

"I believe that a settlement of this question is entirely bound up with the problem of a seat for China in the U.N. Security Council and with the problem of Formosa."

Loan Company Completes Job

Thompson Company Expanded, Remodeled

Expansion and remodeling of the Thompson Loan Co. in the Palace Theater building on W. Center St. has been completed, Odell Thompson, president and manager, announced today.

Thompson said space has been doubled and the rooms completely redecorated.

The project which began the first of June and was just completed included the acquisition of additional space next to the former office. A total of four additional rooms have been added to the expanded offices.

The offices have been situated at the same location for nearly six years, Thompson opening the business at 280 W. Center St. on September 30, 1948.

Senators Call Bedell Smith, Adm. Radford

State, Armed Forces Officials Testify on Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration goes back to Congress today with arguments for its foreign aid program, already trimmed by more than 10 per cent and facing probable attempts to cut it further.

The Senate Armed Services Committee called Acting Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to a closed session today on the measure, now slimmed to $3,100,000,000 by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Action Fixes Ceiling

The administration asked $3,448,108,000 in authorizations for the fiscal year that began July 1 and the House voted $3,368,608,000. The figures are maximums only; actual appropriations must be voted later.

The Armed Services Committee in the past has rarely recommended changes in basic foreign aid totals, though it has the right to do so.

But the bill again will be open to cutting attempts when it reaches the Senate floor.

The Foreign Relations Committee's trimming of individual items, made public last night, was roughly proportionate to the size of the administration's requests.

Thus, the big category for military equipment to friendly countries, $1,430,000,000, was cut by 165 million dollars. An 800-million-dollar item for the Indochina war—or for use in bolstering Southeast Asia defenses if the present shooting stops—was reduced by 88 million.

Technical Aid Uncut

However, the committee left intact the $131,528,000 recommended for technical cooperation—the furnishing of U.S. experts' services to underdeveloped countries—as well as a number of other smaller aid programs.

Also retained in full was a 321-million-dollar item contributions to the military facilities in Europe for use by North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

And the Senate committee voted to put back into the bill two items that had been eliminated in the house—27 million dollars for non-atomic research and development in weapons in Europe, restored in full, and 70 million dollars for British-built aircraft for the Royal Air Force, reduced only 5 million from the administration request.

Fades After 9 Years

Site of First Atomic Blast Only Hole in Desert Now

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. — The eyes of the passengers searched the hazy distance, following the directing finger of the airliner's pilot.

Under the shoulder of bleak, barren Oscuro Range, they finally saw what he was trying to point out.

It wasn't much, just a little disk-shaped spot in the desert—a little darker than surrounding land.

Not much—that scar—not much to show for the world-shaking event that happened there nine years ago. That spot is all that remains to mark the first atomic explosion July 16, 1945.

Some months ago a construction outfit finished scraping up the glasslike substance formed of the surrounding sandy topsoil as the intense heat of the blast melted it.

The Atomic Energy Commission didn't want to take any chances that the desert wind might stir up radioactive dust from the trinitite as it slowly disintegrated.

The contractor scraped it up and buried it in a large pit nearby. Then the Soil Conservation Service stepped in and planted grass it believed would thrive in the desert area.

Apparently it was right, for that grass is a little greener than the surrounding area. Maybe it gets a little more water too, for it's in a 1,100-foot-wide, 10-foot-deep saucer pounded into the desert by the momentous blast.

Apparently nature will have to continue as the only marker of the spot—maybe for years to come, for the area is part of White Sands Proving Ground, one of the nation's prime rocket development sites.

The spot eventually is to be opened as a national monument, but even National Park Service officials must obtain special permission to get into the area.

The glassy material, named for Trinity, where the historic blast was set off, is gone, but as a park service official says:

"At least no one can remove the site."

12 Tots Perish As Boat Upsets Near Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Eight or nine children were missing today in a mountain lake northwest of here where at least 12 tots were drowned when an overloaded pleasure motorboat capsized yesterday.

The bodies of three girls and a boy were recovered before darkness suspended search operations last night. Two adults and several other children were rescued.

The tragedy occurred as about 62 Montreal Negro children 5 to 12 years old romped happily at a picnic on the shore of Lake of Two Mountains, 20 miles northwest of the city.

Jack Seligman, a Montreal man who has a cottage near Ile Bizard, offered to take the youngsters on boat rides around the lake. On the third trip, he said, water started splashing over the side of the heavily loaded boat. The children panicked, some jumped overboard and the boat overturned.

Seligman and Jack Harrison, a camp counselor also in the boat rescued several children. Bus drivers who had brought the children to the picnic and a Sea Scout saved others.

BUC Reports Decline In New Jobless Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The total of newly unemployed claimants for jobless benefits showed a slight decrease last week, the bureau of unemployment compensation reports. The figure for the week ended last Saturday was 14,007 compared with 14,863 the week before.

The estimated figure for last week of claimants unemployed one week or more was 96,337, an increase of about 2,500 over the previous week. The total, however, does not include those who may have drawn the maximum of 26 weeks' compensation and who still may be unemployed.

STEVE CANYON By Milton Caniff

MEANA, HOW YOU SEEN TO BE ON COL. CANYON'S SIDE IN THIS... I THOUGHT YOU LIKED MR. NETHERLAND!
OH, MR. N. SEEM LIKE TOP CUT, BUT YOU JUST ONLY MET HIM!.. A GAL HAS TO FINE TO SCRATCH A MAN'S EYES OUT BEFORE SHE KNOWS WHETHER SHE WANTS HIM!
I'LL FEEL BETTER IN DAYLIGHT — AND SO WILL STEVE AND CLARKE! I'LL PHONE THEM FIRST THING... THIS CAN BE WORKED OUT SOMEHOW
BUT IT TAKES AT LEAST TWO FOR A FIGHT, A FROLIC OR A FOOTRACE —AND ONE OF THE PRINCIPALS IS JUST NOW CHECKING OUT OF THE HOTEL...
AND SHORTLY AFTERWARD ANOTHER LEADING ACTOR IN THE DRAMA PAYS FOR HIS ROOM AND DISAPPEARS INTO THE RISING MISTS...

Goose Quill Pens Make Comeback in U.S. Courts

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The goose quill pen has staged a comeback at the U. S. Supreme Court.

Use of the white feathered pens resumes once more an age-old link with the past broken shortly after World War II.

The high court had made history through largely ceremonial use of the quill pen from its beginning. The quills, carefully plucked from the outer wing of the goose, were supplied by a London firm. The war cut off this supply.

Now court lawyers find a crossed pair of 10-inch white quills before them each day. The pens still come from a goose, but the brand is domestic. Lewis Glaser, a New Haven, Conn., manufacturer, is responsible for the current supply.

A friendly neighborhood dealer says he never asks associates in the same line how business is, because if they say it's terrible it depresses him and if they say wonderful it gives him the horrible feeling that he's not getting his share.

Yale, California School Get New Atom Smashers

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP) — The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has authorized construction of $1,200,000 atom-smashers at the University of California's radiation laboratory and at Yale University.

The new atom-smashers, or accelerators, unlike those in use, will be capable of splitting elements with heavier atomic weights than their predecessors. Present atom-splitters are capable of smashing elements of an atomic weight of four or less, while the new accelerators will bombard atomic nuculei of elements ranging nine to 20 in atomic weight.

The Berkeley machine will be used primarily by the radiation laboratory's nuclear chemists headed by Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, while the Yale machine will be utilized principally in the studies of the reactions of very heavy particles to nuclear bombardment.

Special auto taxes including registration fees, tolls and excise taxes on cars, parts, gasoline and oil now produce more than 5 billion dollars a year, says the Automobile Manufacturers Assn.

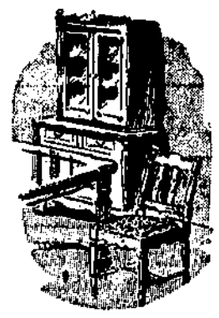
DON'T BUY GEE-GAWS



Fancied-up furniture, ornate and tricky in design, decorated with a lot of cheap carving, is not only outside the realm of good taste, but it is always very expensive in the long run. You'll tire of it quickly, and chances are ten to one that it won't hold up.

Insist On Simple, Well-Designed Pieces

Gee-gaws add to the cost. The simpler and plainer the exterior, the more sturdy the construction is likely to be. Well-designed, dignified pieces fit into almost any room plan, seldom if ever become dated. The simpler the lines, the more expensive the piece looks. Stop dreaming about a beautifully furnished home—Have one! It's easy when you buy your furnishings piece by piece.

The successful home, decoratively speaking, is one whose furnishings combine comfort and usefulness with good design and high quality. We try to give you all of these elements in every piece of furniture—large or small—that you purchase from us. So come in and shop with confidence.

Ike's Federal Road Plans Meet Business Approval

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty billion dollars is a lot of money.

Yet many a driver who tackled the more popular of the nation's highways over recent weekends would probably agree that the new roads the 50 billion dollars would buy could well be used. As President Eisenhower points out, "billions of hours' are wasted in traffic jams and delays.

Businessmen, as well as politicians, will have plenty to argue about in the President's proposal. The states and the federal government may debate who should build the roads, who should collect the gasoline and auto taxes.

But for all there is one point of optimism. The President's stressing of the need for more roads points up one of the facets of the great growth prospects for the nation.

MANY BUSINESSMEN have insisted all along that the recent slowdown in industrial activity is but a breather before another upward push which will be brought about by the growth of population and the increasing demands of a still rising standard of living.

The immediate interests of business, however, in a great transcontinental highway program are wide.

Such a plan is bound to bring up the railroads' argument that their freight-carrying rivals, the trucking companies, will be getting tax-paid rights of ways.

The railroads stress the same argument as to their passenger-carrying competitors, the bus lines and the private autos which have siphoned so much intercity business away from the rail carriers.

BUT THE RAILS are coming to have an interest of their own in feeder roads, at least. An example is the current argument that great down-town passenger terminals like Grand Central in New York are so hard to reach by car that terminals should be built on the fringes of the city where rail passengers could park their autos.

And now that some of the railroads are going in for carrying truck trailers piggy-back on flat cars between cities, they have a stake in better expressways and speedways within cities and their suburbs.

Outside the field of controversy, business will welcome more and better highways for many reasons.

An expanded highway system will speed deliveries of finished goods and raw materials, not only for city-based factories and stores, but for the increasing number of them that are taking to the suburbs and countryside. Present delivery delays costs industry untold millions of dollars.

GASOLINE PRODUCERS and sellers, makers of autos, tires and hosts of accessories and parts will welcome more roads, of course.

Many suspect their sales would be higher now if driving hadn't become so burdensome. In other years, families used to climb into cars just "to go for a ride." Now there has to be an objective at the end of the drive worth reaching for many a family to consider it worth while to put up with the irksome traffic jams around the nation's industrial and commercial centers.

That the new highways will come is pretty well agreed—despite all the arguments about how and why and who is going to pay.

It's just one of the growth factors that business considers inevitable and perks it up right now.

Minks are cousins of the weasel, beautiful and historic private estates in England and their famous gardens, readily accessible by British railways, are open to foreign visitors this summer.

Mourning Doves Found Infected by Parasites

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — Staff members of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine say that more than half of all mourning doves studied during a five-year research program were found to be infected with malaria-like blood parasites.

Dr. N. D. Levine and Sidney Kantor of the college are working with H. C. Hanson and S. W. Kossack of the Illinois Natural History Survey in trying to find out how the birds get the parasites. The work is part of a general study of the mourning dove.

Information Unlimited

A new twist developed last week in an occupation so old that everything about it should be familiar by this time.

The best known of the federal government's professional informers against persons accused of Communist connections, Paul Crouch, formally demanded a congressional investigation of the Chief of the Department of Justice, which has made the greatest use of his services as an informer.

Crouch's demand followed the beginning of an investigation of his reliability as a informer by Attorney General Brownell. Brownell's investigation was begun in turn, after skeptics had thrown doubt on some of the testimony Crouch had given under oath. His personal recollections of persons he claims to have known and seen and heard about when he was a member of the Communist conspiracy have been suspiciously glib, according to some of his critics.

The role of the informer is so familiar it should hold no surprises for the knowledgeable. But in the case of converted Communists who have been eager to tell everything they can recall about their former associations and acquaintances, one surprise seems to have developed.

It is the almost total recall of some of the paid witnesses concerning things which ordinarily would have been blurred out by the passage of time. Some of the informers when testifying for pay have shown the same frenzied zeal that they must have shown when formerly they were trying to overthrow the United States. This has stirred some doubts.

It has stirred some doubts even in the Department of Justice. And it has stirred an informer named Crouch to demand that the attorney general of the United States be investigated for entertaining any doubts about the utter reliability of a former Communist.

Civilization's Gadfly

Two points of realization about Latin America have been raised by recent events in Guatemala.

First, Americans living north of Latin America realized that the Communist conspiracy was entirely capable of working its customary mischief in its customary ways on this continent.

Second, Americans who are unalterably against the Communist conspiracy wherever it bobs up realized that it was possible to be against it dynamically and successfully.

It is no secret that the United States and its allies who believe the new world must be barred to old-world intrigue intervened to help get rid of a Communist-dominated regime in Guatemala.

But it should be no secret, either, that the Communists who dominated that regime were successful in so doing because conditions were ideal for the kind of agitation at which the Communists excel when their purpose is to cause trouble.

The historic irony of this agitation is that the Communist conspiracy has become a kind of gadfly that stings civilization wherever it leaves itself unprotected. The conspirators make no progress in the most advanced countries. They score their success only in the backward spots of the earth, where men and women have nothing to lose.

Guatemala, thanks to forthright action, even though the action was taken belatedly, has been freed from the terror of the Communist conspiracy. But its ultimate security will come from a higher standard of living for Guatemalans, not from military juntas.

Canada Must Love Us

Details that must be cleared away before Canada takes the final step to complete its St. Lawrence seaway are the subject of a meeting between United States and Canadian officials this week in Ottawa.

Running through the list, an American would have to concede the seaway is proving to be the hardest test of the traditional friendship between his country and the ever-growing commonwealth to the north.

If it had not been Canada's desire to maintain friendly relations at all costs, it would have finished the seaway the same way it has built all of it so far—at its own expense. It would have located all navigational works inside its own territory, retained control of toll charges and stayed clear of the complications of split jurisdiction bound to arise under joint control.

As it is, for an investment of 105 million dollars which will be paid back eventually—less than one third the estimated cost of finishing the St. Lawrence seaway—the United States acquires what amounts to a partnership right in the seaway's operation. One of the ticklish details to be handled at Ottawa, incidentally, is the division between United States and Canadian labor to be used on the unfinished part of the project.

When it finally is completed and the Great Lakes area begins to reap the benefits of accessibility to ocean commerce without having to pay tribute to curruption-ridden Atlantic ports, it should remember to thank the Canadians once every week day and twice on Sundays. Without them, there never could have been a seaway. Without their continued patience, there still cannot be a seaway.

Reappraisal Under Way

By David Lawrence

France, Britain Look to U.S. for Next Move

America's "agonizing reappraisal" of the world situation is not far away. The trip of Secretary Dulles to Paris is one of the first moves in the process.

It will be recalled that Dulles several months ago warned the French that, unless the European Defense Community were ratified, the United States would have to make "an agonizing reappraisal" of its world policies. No clarifying definition was ever supplied, but it has been generally believed that if France and Britain pursued policies that isolated the United States, it would become necessary to re-examine America's past policies and assumptions as well. There is at present a far-reaching crisis in world affairs.

The French Cabinet realizes it is defeated in Indochina and is preparing some form of surrender but it wants an American blessing to be given to the so-called "settlement," so it will seem more palatable to the French people.

Great Britain is trying to side with France but also wants a cue from America as to what to do.

When Secretary Dulles and Undersecretary Smith dealt with the problems that arose at Geneva, they made it crystal clear that the United States was not in favor of appeasing the Communists in Indochina or anywhere else.

There was a brief period recently when America considered military intervention in Indochina, but the French government, while discussing the matter on a hypothetical basis, never really requested intervention.

THE REASON was a fear that, if the United States did intervene, it would mean the internationalization of the war and this might result in a prolonged conflict. The pressure in France has been to get out of Indochina at almost any cost. This pressure comes to a large extent from the Communist deputies—100 of them—who hold the balance of power in the French Parliament, and from the leftist groups who have been influenced by what seemed to them a popular cry for the ending of the war in Indochina.

Now that the time is at hand for scuttling the Indochina war by retreat and evacuation, the French Cabinet is ill at ease. Frantic appeals were made to the American government last week to send a top-level official to attend the Geneva Conference, where Molotov of Russia, Chou En-lai of Communist China and Foreign Secretary Eden of Britain were ready to meet with Premier Mendes-France. This could only mean arrangements for the funeral of Allied hopes for an honorable Indochina settlement.

The United States government replied last Friday that it couldn't see the wisdom of sending a top-level official back to Geneva, because America would have to speak its mind plainly and in the end this could complicate matters for the French if they were really bent on surrendering or appeasing though Churchill reaffirms his descriptive phrase for ending the Indochina war on the enemy's terms really is.

THE FRENCH felt badly about America's abstention and again urged that someone from the Department of State come to talk things over. Dulles conferred with President Eisenhower on Monday of this week and decided that, as a courtesy to the French, the best thing to do was for the secretary of state to fly to Paris and hold conferences there.

Whether or not Dulles goes on to Geneva—an hour away from Paris by plane—depends on what tangible results crop up at the Swiss center of diplomatic effort.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Churchill dispelled one source of anxiety that had arisen since he left Washington. He declared that Britain didn't favor Red China's admission to the United Nations "at the moment," which means that the matter will be deferred for some time to come even though Churchill reaffirms his belief that ultimately such a course should be taken.

He revealed, incidentally, that the matter of admitting Red China into the United Nations figured very little in his talks with President Eisenhower. The real controversy arose afterwards when reports became current that Premier Mendes-France, in order to get Chou En-lai's approval of peace terms, had to promise something about supporting Red China's bid for entry into the Security Council of the U.N.

THE FORTHRIGHT expressions from Majority Leader Knowland and Minority Leader Johnson in the U.S. Senate, together with the legislation proposed to cut down on foreign aid, may have had a sobering effect on those abroad who were pressing the Red China matter. For the present, therefore, nothing will be done about it, and American leadership on this issue has received a strong measure of support throughout the world.

Churchill also emphasized in his report to the House of Commons the deep-seated fear that he has about the H-bomb. This subject is bound to influence world policy more and more as the stories of terror, some of them innocently spread and others deliberately exaggerated, are distributed with the possible result that the "will to fight" in France and Britain will be paralyzed.

If Britain and France are to be neutral because of the H-bomb, America's whole strategy in getting and keeping allies in Asia and Europe may have to be completely revised.

Who's Beautiful?

By TRUMAN TWILL

Whenever the summer beauty contest season lays off its bathrobe and steps into the spotlight there is a wonderment that flits through the minds of some of who have reached, although we may not have passed, the age of discretion.

It is this:

Are these toothsome beauties who stagger all mankind with their curves and oopsy-daisies the best-looking females who ever pressed their pinkies on the face of the earth? Or is that just the way they appear in the photographs that are taken and distributed for the endless delight of the oglers?

How beautiful are they?

The question is not academic. It is practical. It is personal. Because beauty ultimately is a matter of opinion. It has no standards. And what every man knows or eventually learns is that the women who are beautiful according to his opinion are not necessarily beautiful according to the opinions of others.

Moreover, most of them would not be beautiful at all in the opinion of people accustomed to rate the beauty of the kind of beautiful women who compete in beauty contests. Theirs is a special kind of beauty—a dazzling variety, like the beauty of peonies in May, or of roses in June.

It is visible at a glance; it is so visible it bowls you over. This is not to suggest that beauty queens who have this kind of overt beauty cannot have the kind which becomes visible only after acquaintanceship. But it is to suggest that the queens do not need the other kind to win contests.

Moreover, it is to suggest that there should be no invidious comparisons between dolls who wouldn't get to first base in beauty competition and those who demoralize the competition the instant they put their best foot forward.

This is what we wanted to get into the record; that the girls who never compete in beauty contests shouldn't be glum about it because somewhere, sometime, somehow they can be as beautiful as anybody alive.

Maybe they aren't photogenic. Maybe they're a bit thin or thick in some dimensions. Maybe they don't light up like a new supermarket when they turn on the gleam. But if they light up like the candle in the front window of home sweet home when it's their turn to glow, they are more beautiful than a composite of all the dazzlers from the beginning of time.

What is beauty in a woman anyway? The most beautiful hands may be the gnarled ones that caressed our hurt and frightened bodies when we were children. The most beautiful face may be the one that never frowns at us.

So take notice—non-beauty-contest winners. You have nothing to apologize for. Your sex has kindly insisted that men could get by without being showboats and that is the way men feel about this matter, too. They stare at the flashy lookers but their hearts go pitty-pat for the girls who look back with that one special expression which transforms every woman into a dazzler.

Cheer up. It will soon be football season and women than can explain to their rachitic boy friends that no one is holding it against them for not having muscles.

Senate Travesty on Colorado Project

By Raymond Moley

With a cynical disregard of all that the Republican party and its candidate said in 1952 about balanced budgets and economy in government, a Senate subcommittee has rushed through hearings on a bill authorizing the gigantic Upper Colorado Storage project. The initial cost now threatens to be something like 500 million, or even a billion dollars more than the proposal reported by the House committee.

If passed, this will obligate the taxpayers of the nation over the years to come to pay two or three times that cost in subsidies on irrigated land, at a rate of something like $2,700 an acre.

IN THE PROJECT as recommended by the President and passed by a margin of one vote by the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, there were two very large power and storage dams and twelve "participating projects." The latter were almost entirely for irrigation. These twelve were artfully distributed among the states of Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, and Wyoming, thus assuring the maximum political support in Congress.

A thirteenth project, a very expensive one, the Navajo - Shiprock project in New Mexico, was deferred by the President, apparently to bring the estimated cost just below a billion dollars.

The getting of this through the House committee was achieved by some masterful log-rolling. Strong opposition came from the State of California, and from organizations of nature lovers who were against the desecration of the Dinosaur National Monument.

There were private objections from the Hoover Commission. The result was that the House Rules Committee firmly opposed action.

THE PROCEEDINGS in the Senate subcommittee of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee were a travesty. Apparently everything decided in advance. During a good portion of the hearings only one member was present.

To make matters very considerably worse, the Senate managers of the bill have made reckless proposals to add new and expensive projects. Senator Anderson of New Mexico called for the addition of the Navaho-Shiprock project, and he will be accommodated.

Then followed proposals for the addition of several more projects in Colorado, New Mexico, and Wyoming. All these add up to an overall plan which even the wildest proponents hesitated to include in the original bills.

IT IS ANTICIPATED that the Senate will slap the whole thing through, with objections perhaps from only such indomitable enemies of wild spending as Senators Douglas and Byrd. This will indeed be the cream of the jest—a few lonely Democrats standing against this Republican regime which is pledged to economy.

The one hope is that this display of sectional interest and reckless haste will so alert the House that the waterlogged bill will founder there.

If by any chance the bill should pass, the President, it is hoped, will kill the measure via veto. For this seems to be too heavy a price for improving Republican chances in the four mountain states.

This is indeed a monstrous revival of the pork barrel legislation of days long gone by.

Deer Are Friends

By Frank Tripp

People who think of deer as panicky, timid animals are slow to accept some of their surprising antics, or to admit their bold existence in considerable numbers close to populated centers in the East.

A recent reference to the plentiful deer in New York State's well settled and highly traveled Finger Lakes region, where we live half of the year, brought sassy charges of nature faking. I wouldn't dare; my neighbors read the stuff too.

Anyway, there's no need to fake, nor resort to hearsay, to spin almost unbelievable yarns about our friends, the deer. They do haunt barnyards; they do stroll our "Main Street." They even stick their heads into car windows.

Now call me a faker some more, you city skeptics—and you'll hear from Fanny next time; or from Anna, who will tell you off in her best highly seasoned White Russian.

TRUTH IS, I questioned this one myself, until I was thus told off by these two women who rule my life—and I don't mean maybe.

This pair of exacting, yet truthful, martinets were motoring along a well traveled hard surfaced road when they spied a half grown doe nearby in a field. Little Harriet, a grandchild, was with them. They stopped for her to see the deer.

The doe wanted to see Harriet too. It leisurely crossed the field, hurdled a fence and came alongside the car. It raised its pretty face and stuck it through the car window.

Fanny patted its head and it licked her hand, tried to reach her face. It stretched toward Harriet who was frightened and drew back, begging, "Don't let it get in the car," which it seemed to be trying.

—:—

THE LOVELY denizen of the forest took its time, appeared to enjoy the affection and baby talk bestowed upon it. Unhurried, it finally moved to the rear of the car. Fanny called to it, "Come back, you pretty thing, I want to pet you some more."

And it did. It returned to the window and stuck its head inside again. Its three or four minute visit with mortals finished, it withdrew as if to say "be on your way."

Anna switched on the starter. At the sound of the exhaust, the doe reverted to type. It took to its heels, leaped over a fence, crossed a field with the speed of an arrow and disappeared into the woods.

ONE MORNING while shaving I glanced through the window and saw a handsome full grown buck and a doe sauntering up what we call Main Street, taking peeks into neighbor's houses.

Another morning Fanny was stopped on South Hill by a doe standing boldly in front of the car. The strange roadblock was soon explained. Two tiny fawns were struggling up the steep bank. When they were up, the mother doe darted after them.

A FEW YEARS AGO a deer was discovered on an unreachable ledge in tortuous Watkins Glen, near us. There seemed no way it could have gotten there, no way it could escape. Man must save it or it would perish, and no man knew how.

Press wires carried the story. Advice on how to rescue it came from near and far; from woodsmen and Indians who added their know-how. Food was dropped to the ledge; a bough-covered trestle was improvised in hope the deer would leap to it.

Two hundred thousand people came to see the imprisoned creature on the high, narrow ledge, which was flooded at night by searchlights. Watkins Glen did a thriving business.

After a week, man gave up; the crowds dwindled, the lights were turned off. The next morning the deer was gone. Somehow, by means known only to deer, it had escaped safely into the hills—and it didn't use the man-made trestle.

Target Practice

Shorts are wonderful things for a man to wear around the house on his day off, and if a delivery man comes to the door—just sign for the stuff and don't try to explain why you're wearing them, that only makes it worse.

A British member of parliament says that Americans must learn, in the case of Red China, to recognize governments that exist even if they don't like them. But, heck, the Republicans did that in this country for more than 20 years.

Daily Bible Thought

A good workman knows his tools, and how to handle them. He puts in a full day of labor and strives for perfection. This is a good rate for ministers or for carpenters or housewives. "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."—2 Tim. 2:15.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Speech on Red China

A suggested speech for our side on the day when Red China comes up for admittance to the United Nations:

"Fellow Delegates: Pardon any resemblances to diplomatic or restrained language on this issue. This is going to be tough talk, smack on the line, straight down the alley, take it or leave it. You are about to vote on the question of Red China and I say to you that if she belongs in the U. N. so does Jack the Ripper, the man-eating shark and the wolf that ate grandma. Roll out the mat for her present government and you roll it out for the Killer Whale, the giant cobra, the defective buzzsaw, the runaway truck, the ghost of Billy the Kid and the Black Widow Spider!

"China is a great country. Uncle Sam was its best friend through generations. Its people have, for thousands of years, been noted for patience, high integrity, respect for civilized traditions and for deep spiritual instincts. But this is not the China asking a seat here today any more than Mr. Hyde on the loose is the kindly Dr. Jekyll at his best.

"This is a China that rules by force and purge and internment camp. This is the China that is as much like the China of tradition as the James Boys are like Whistler's Mother. This is the China that pitched in to kill more than 40,000 American boys in Korea and which leers at the free world and double-crosses Uncle Sam at every turn.

"Gentlemen, I ask you, is this U. N. a palace of peace or the funny house at Coney Island Are we meeting in a world organization for peace or on a picnic ground of the 'Nobody-Is-Right-But-Moscow-and-Pieping' Clubs?

"Give Red China a key to this building and you are putting a hammer and sickle over the entrance, planting poppy seeds in the flower boxes, dedicating the cocktail lounge as a chop suey joint and giving Gen. May the right to appoint the elevator operators and serve birds-nest soup during debates.

"Hand a membership card to Chou En-lai entitling him to a good view of the East River and you might as well vote that all the ushers and interpreters be recruited from the North Korean Panmunjom truce delegation. Admit Red China to this organization and you might as well issue an engraved invitation to Red Chinese generals to open all meetings with bugle calls and drum beatings.

"Gentlemen, I ask you the simple question: Are you voting today for the highest aims of the United Nations as an instrument of peace or are you voting for international runarounds, marathon dancing and life in dark alleys?

"Are we mice or men? And, what is more important, do we hope to be effective as either? Boys and girls, I ask you was this skyscraper erected to develop noble resolves by peace-loving nations or as a rehearsal hall for Martin and Lewis, and the Four Ritz Brothers? Are we here in our right minds or is our greatest need a psychiatrist's couch on every floor.

"Gentlemen, be yourselves, with or without spirits of ammonia! And remember this is an edifice, not a squirrel cage, a resort for artful dodgers or a playground for weird thinkers. I thank you, and hope my thanks are not premature."

A ruling that bottled Martini cocktails be limited to three parts gin to one vermouth has been revised to permit five parts gin. . . The effect on house parties can be pretty devastating and we think it means a business boom for the men to replace broken windows, put the legs back on divans and refinish the piano.

Have 300 books on all subjects; will swop for firearms." — Advertisement in Yankee Magazine. . . That's what we call nursing a deep and violent hatred for a good many authors.

He paid a small fine and left the courtroom.

SWITCH DECLARED OKAY

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) Common Pleas Judge Cletus A. Fisher ruled yesterday that it was all right for an Unrichsville widow to change a will election which would have cost her $11,000 had it remained as it was. The widow is Mrs. Avaline Smith, 80, whose husband, William, left an estate of $309,000 when he died in 1952. He was a lumber dealer. Mrs. Smith had elected to take her widow's share by law rather than abide by terms of her husband's will. Later she discovered this would have $11,000 less than the amount left to her in the will.

Rotarians Hear Leader Report On Convention

Dr. James S. Greetham, immediate past president of the Marion Rotary Club, gave a report on the 45th International Rotary convention at Seattle June 6-10 during the local club's weekly meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

This year's Rotary convention was one of the best in history, Dr. Greetham said. He described convention activities in detail and said the program was highlighted by two events—a talk by Secretary of State Dulles and a mammoth pageant on life in the Pacific Northwest.

Dr. Greetham also summarized Marion Rotary activities for the 1953-54 year and gave a report on the expenditures and accomplishments of each committee.

Tuesday's meeting also marked the annual club assembly when members of committees dined together and planned their activities for the coming year.

At the conclusion of the program, perfect attendance pins were presented to the following members: Harley Roby, 31 years; Henry Mickley and James Frew, 20 years; Dr. E. L. Brady, 19 years; Paul Williams, 14 years; Virgil Dye, 13 years; George Alber and Hugh Webster, 9 years; Fred Cory, 8 years; Dr. Ralph Burton, 7 years; Homer Huffman, 5 years; Marion McDaniel and Donald Flach, 4 years; Winthrop P. Ames, Walter Axthelm, Robert Bagley, J. W. Llewellyn and Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, 3 years; Dr. Greetham and George Stafford, 2 years; E. W. Darling, Vernon Street and Robert Van Sickle, one year.

A visiting Rotarian at the meeting was G. L. Patterson of Cardington. Guests were Richard Aldrich of Sandusky and Gene Poling of Marion.

Mayor at Bucyrus Is Named in Action

BUCYRUS — Mayor Frank P. Sitler and Cline W. Warnock, former postmaster, both of Bucyrus, are named defendants in a breach of contract action filed in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here by Frank Teynor, Bucyrus building contractor.

Teynor claims breach of contract in a real estate transaction with Warnock and further charges that the land, allegedly promised him, was sold by Warnock to Sitler. His petition states that two Bucyrus inlots were offered for sale at $700 each and that Warnock offered to purchase them for the plaintiff, deeding them to him at cost plus $100 and six per cent interest.

The plaintiff claims Warnock delivered him the deed for the north portion of the inlots and that he improved both lots at a cost of $250 after which Warnock, without notice to the plaintiff, sold the sourthern portion of the land to Sitler. Teynor claims Sitler bought the lots with knowledge of Teynor's rights. He asks that the court declare the deed to the southern portion of the lots null and void and compel Warnock to carry out the alleged contract.

Bucyrus Woman Marks 93rd Year at Hospital

BUCYRUS — Miss Harriet E. Hopley, one of this city's oldest residents, observed her 93rd birthday Monday at Bucyrus City Hospital, where she has been a patient since March 14, 1952.

Miss Hopley suffered multiple injuries 28 months ago when she was struck by an auto as she was crossing a residential street. She is able to walk about the hospital with the aid of her cane.

The venerable Bucyrian is one of two surviving members of the Hopley family, long active in civic, political and journalistic fields in Bucyrus. A brother, James R., former state senator, longtime newspaper publisher and ex-postmaster, lives here. He, too, is confined to his home with injuries suffered in a similar accident about three years ago. He is 90.

ONE MINOR ACCIDENT

A near accident free day Tuesday and last night was reported in Marion and the county during the last 24 hours. Only one accident which involved total damage of less than $100 was reported by city police. The state highway patrol and sheriff's deputies reported no accidents during the same period on county streets or highways.

Walker Found Sane, Returned For Sentencing

Harold David Walker, 26, of 376 Nye St., was found sane today by a three-judge panel sitting in Marion County Common Pleas Court.

The finding was made after the court received a written report from the Lima State Hospital where Walker had undergone an examination following his conviction in April of criminal assault of an eight-year-old Marion girl.

Judges Paul D. Smith of Marion, Marion B. Owen of Urbana, and Arthur Tudor of Fostoria, were on this morning's panel. Judge Tudor was assigned to take the place of Judge Russell H. Kear of Upper Sandusky, who originally sat on the panel but was unable to come to Marion today.

Aug. 24 was set for the date of sentencing for Walker.
